INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON.

Senator Douglas' Speech on the Kansas Question.

Tremendous Crowd in the Senate Chamber.

INTERESTING DEBATE IN BOTH HOUSES.

Dispatches from the Utah Expedition—The Witness Wolcott to be Delivered up to the Authorities, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

Mr. DOUGLAS spoke this evening three hours to an overcrowded audience. He first reviewed his own course on the Slavery question, since 1843, to show that he had acquiesced in the Missouri Compromise until the principle of popular sovereignty was introduced, when he embraced it, and afterwards applied it to Kansas. All he asked now was that it should be fairly carried out,—and this, he went on to show the Lecompton Constitution did not do.

He said that CALHOUN, being absent, had no power to declare the vote of Kansas, which is given by the Lecompton Constitution to the President pro tem., so that his recent letter was of no consequence whatever.

Mr. DOUGLAS then denounced the Washington Union for assailing him, and said that it was because he refused to vote for the Editor as Printer. He read a long editorial, which urged that emancipation in the North was a violation of the right of property under the Constitution, and gave this as a reason why he refused to vote for the Editor.

The last hour was devoted to a vehement denunciation of the President for attempting to dragoon men into the support of Lecompton by the use of patronage, and he declared that for one he should obey the dictates of conscience in spite of the President or the Cabinet. He should consult the will of his constituents rather than the will of the Administration. All other Democrats were allowed to differ from the President on various points—on this alone absolute submission was required. He scorned the attempt at coercion, and would not yield to it. If this was to drive him to private life, he was ready for the sacrifice. He preferred his self-respect in private life to servile abasement in office.

Mr. TOOMBS, of Georgia, replied with bitterness, and sharp personal criticism of DOUGLAS. The debate was protracted and interesting.

The vote in the Senate will probably be taken tomorrow, after debate. The bill is expected to have five or six majority.

The opinion gains that it will fail in the House if a vote is taken early.

Two companies of Dragoons and two of Infantry left Fort Leavenworth on the 18th for Fort Laramie to escort thence a train of supplies destined to the army of Utah. No further troops will move westward, probably, until the grass is sufficiently grown to furnish feed for the stock. It is now believed here that all the reinforcements now concentrating at Leavenworth will reach Col. JOHNSTON before he is ready to advance upon Salt Lake.

The following is the army order directing the Court-Martial upon Gen. TWIGGS.

No. 42.] WAR DEPARTMENT, March 19, 1858.

By direction of the President of the United States, a General Court-Martial will assemble at Newport Barracks, Ky., at 11 o'clock, A. M., on Wednesday, the 28th day of April, 1858, or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the trial of Brevet Major General DAVID E. TWIGGS, U. S. Army.

Detail for the Court.

Brevet Major-General Thomas S. Jesup, Quartermaster-General.

Brevet Major-General John E. Wool.

Brevet Major-General Persifer F. Smith.

Brevet Brigadier-General Sylvester Churchill, Inspector-General.

Brevet Brigadier-General Wm. S. Harney, Colonel 2d Dragoons.

Colonel Joseph R. F. Mansfield, Inspector-General.

Colonel Joseph Plympton, 1st Infantry.

Brevet Colonel John L. Gardiner, Lieutenant-Colonel 1st Infantry.

Brevet Colonel Robert E. Lee, Lieutenant-Colonel 2d Cavalry.

Colonel Thomas S. Fauntleroy, 1st Dragoons.

Colonel Henry K. Craig, Ordnance Department.

Colonel Charles Thomas, Assistant Quartermaster-General.

Lieutenant-Colonel George B. Crittenden, Mounted Riflemen.

Brevet Major John F. Lee, Judge Advocate.

No other officers than those named can be convened without manifest injury to the service.

By order of the Secretary of War.

S. COOPER, Adjutant-General.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

The President has authorized public sales of lands at Lecompton and Kickapoo, on the 5th and 19th of July next.

The War Department has received dispatches from the Utah Expedition.

Colonel JOHNSTON'S letter is of such a character that it is deemed advisable not to permit a copy of it to be made for publication, although it is said that nothing of particular interest has transpired since the last advices. The health of the officers and soldiers is represented as good.

The Select Committee in the case of Mr. MATTESON concluded their report with a resolution that it is inexpedient for the House to take any further action in regard to the resolutions proposing his expulsion. The report is signed by SEWARD, GROW and HUYLER.

Captain CRAM, of the Topographical Engineers, and Lieut. PEVERILL, of the 4th Artillery, have been assigned to duty on the Coast Survey; Captain CULLUM to take charge of the condition of the fortifications on New-Bedford Harbor; Captain BENHAM to superintend the operations at Sandy Hook; and Lieutenant SILL, of the Ordnance Department, to the duty of superintending the erection of the arsenal at Vancouver, Washington Territory.

When the occupants of the Senate gallery vacated their places at the time of the recess this afternoon, the anxious outside crowd of ladies and gentlemen rushed in, and had two hours to wait before the resumption of the discussion. In the evening multitudes were unable to obtain even positions where they could indistinctly hear. The lobbies were densely filled with members of the House and others having the privilege of the floor.

The Storm Among the Lecomptonites—Effect of Calhoun's Letter—What Fat Contracts are Expected to Do—The Senate Debates, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 21, 1858.

There has been a storm among the Lecomptonites here, during the last twenty-four hours. Yesterday afternoon Gen. CALHOUN'S official manifesto was published, declaring the Free-State majority in the Legislature of Kansas; and this morning the document was copied into the official organ, the Union—an incident full of significance in times like these, when a breath has the weight of a blow. This exhibit—coupled with the declaration of the President in his Special Kansas Message, to the effect that the People of the new State may change the Lecompton Constitution whenever the Legislature chooses to call a Convention for that purpose—was looked upon as a perfect and complete surrender of any and every advantage which the South had hoped to acquire in Kansas. It not only places the Government of the Territory in the hands of the Free-State men, and secures the return of LANE and ROBINSON to the United States Senate in all probability—but it also insures a new Constitutional Convention forthwith. If Kansas were to be admitted under these circumstances, the first State Government would be far more hostile to Southern interests than if no such contest had ever been made in Congress. Indeed, there would be no check to the Free Soil radicalism which would shape the destinies of Kansas. Even if the State ticket were conceded to the Lecompton men, it would prove no check, because the Legislature would speedily set aside the fraudulent elections by which the State officers obtained position, and would replace them with men of the Topeka school.

All this is, to-day, passing in review before the Southern Lecompton men; and they perceive that the "cui bono?" which their constituents will poke at them on their return home, must prove an awkward greeting. They see that the "South Americans,"—who have distrusted the scheme from the beginning, as one calculated to react upon Southern interests, and damage instead of advance them—have obtained the vantage ground by proving themselves far the most sagacious statesmen and politicians. What wonder, then, that they are indignant and alarmed! The entertainment is not the one to which they were invited. They took hold of Lecompton—dirty business though it was—supposing that they saw a splendid drove of "niggers" in it;—and all at once behold they find their visions of plantations and woolly heads evanescent as a morning sunbeam! Some of them already begin to suspect that Mr. BUCHANAN has played them a shabby trick,—that he knew all the time what CALHOUN would eventually do, and that he has availed himself of this knowledge to get them into a scrape more ridiculous than agreeable.

Now the question is, what they had better do,—whether they shall go straight ahead, or—confessing they have been deceived—shall abandon the "great principle" for which they have contended until they found that policy don't sustain it—and shall stampede. They are very much in the predicament of HENRY CLAY when, many years ago, upon Pennsylvania-avenue, he interfered to induce some mischievous boys to let loose a goat which they were teasing. While he was plying his argument, the goat put in his "butt," and the great man was compelled to catch him by the horns and held him for self-protection, much to the amusement of the lads who watched his manœuvres. Embarrassed by the singularity of his predicament, and not knowing whether to let go or hold on, he inquired; "Well, boys, what am I to do?" "Why, d-o-n-'t y-o-u k-n-o-w, Mr. CLAY?" drawled out a little eight-year-old. "Why, just let go and run like blazes!" There is an even chance that sundry Southern gentlemen, who have been holding the Lecompton goat by the horns, will conclude that the remedy prescribed for Mr. CLAY is sovereign in their own cases.

On the other hand, as I have suggested in previous letters, CALHOUN'S act of tardy justice will abate the opposition of no true man to the Lecompton instrument. It was intended, beyond doubt, to influence the votes of DEWART, of Pennsylvania; BURNS and PENDLETON, of Ohio; ENGLISH, of Indiana, and one or two others, perhaps, of the Anti-Lecompton Democrats, as well as to confirm the apostacy to "Popular Sovreignty" of sundry other Northern men, who have been supporting Lecompton with shaky knees. It may be made the pretext under which contemplated treachery is to be concealed. It may be adopted as a flimsy veil with which traitors hope to hide their shame, and parry the indignation of a betrayed and outraged constituency. But it will in fact change the opinion and the vote of no man. That is to be done, if at all, by patronage and spoils—by the awards of offices and rich contracts, similar to those by which it is notorious that fealty of sundry Democrats to the Lecompton swindle has already been purchased. Look to it, men of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana; and as you see contracts being fulfilled by your neighbors who have friends or relatives "at Court," see if you cannot tell where the trail of the serpent of corruption is marked. Remember that the House recently refused to investigate the charge that such influences were being exerted in behalf of Lecompton; and when you look about you and see who has the contracts for horses, mules, wagons, beef, transportation, &c., &c., for the "Army of Utah," you will have no difficulty in seeing why the proposed investigation was refused. Additional contracts of a similar character are still in the market; and when the vote on the Lecompton bill is taken in the House, if there is any absentee-ism or any flinching on the part of the hitherto professed opponents of the Lecompton scheme, we shall know at once where the balance of the spoil has been appropriated. Nous verrons.

The debate in the Senate during the last day or two has presented no feature so marked as a portion of the speech made by C. C. CLAY, of Alabama, which for wanton vulgarity and obscenity I have never heard equaled in Congress. Comparing Kansas to the case of a female who had been forcibly violated, he repeated a story well suited to a flash publication, but unfit for ears polite, and which drove a dozen ladies in mortification and confusion from the Senate Gallery. Unless I give Mr. CLAY more than deserved credit for sagacity, you will not find it—except in greatly modified form—in his published remarks.

A recent and most valuable discovery is about to be exhibited here under circumstances which cannot fail to give it interest and wide celebrity. It is one through which gas-burners may be lighted by electricity. The discoverer, whose name has escaped me, states that he can attach his apparatus to the stree lamps of an entire city, and then, by the turn of a screw, ignite the jets of all of them in an instant of time, and extinguish them by the same process. Of course the same thing can be done with the lights of a public building; or the apparatus can be so arranged that (in a hotel, for instance) matches may be dispensed with, and any single burner, or any given number of them, may be lighted at will by electricity. Arrangements are making to test the invention here immediately. S.

XXXVth CONGRESS......First Session.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

Mr. STUART, of Michigan, said he would not discuss the Kansas question on the abstract principles of Slavery, but on the ground that the action of the Lecompton Constitution was an intentional fraud upon the people, and did not express the will of the people. He then followed with considerable clearness the clauses of the President's Message, contending that in some cases the reasoning was fallacious and in others absurd. He was astonished that the President should in this special message say that Kansas was in a state of rebellion, and yet propose the admission of this rebellious State into the Union. He (STUART) would not recapitulate the history of Kansas; that has already been done well. There are, he said, two factions in the Territory—the Abolitionists, who support the Topeka Constitution, and a small squad of extreme Southerners in favor of the extension of Southern institutions and the revival of the Slave-trade, who favor the Lecompton Constitution. But the great bulk of the people are against both these Constitutions. When the President made that remarkable statement as to rebellion, it was at the time of the October election, when every mail and telegraphic dispatch brought word that all was peace there. It was absurd to say that a people having the government in their own hands, and exercising it under the forms of law, and under a Governor appointed by the President, was in a state of rebellion. The people peacefully preferred an issue by which they could express their objections to the proceedings of the Convention, and they did so by 10,000 majority. The President having established, as he thinks, this Constitution on the principle of right, proceeds to defend it on the principle of expediency. As for himself, his (STUART'S) view of a Territorial Constitution is that it is an incipient movement for the formation of a State; if presented to Congress, and refused acceptance, it is a constitution no longer. He next commented upon the fraudulent surroundings of the Lecompton Constitution, and also condemned in severe terms the conduct of CALHOUN touching the returns in the last election. Then citing the President's words, that if the Kansas act is fairly executed it will allay all excitement, he said he (STUART) agreed with him on that point. That is a principle on which all can stand; not because it is the Kansas act, but because it carries out a principle as ancient as the right of free government, namely: that the people may say under what government they will live. That is the panacea, not only for Kansas, but for the whole Continent. The Senator from Virginia, (Mr. HUNTER,) the other day, by way of disreputable contrast, alluded to the eagles of Europe gathering to the spoils of Europe, while we are wrangling over the frauds at Delaware Crossing. That Senator here unwittingly described the difference between the nations of Europe and this Republic. There, empire is extended, and the people are governed by the strong arm of power; here, through the purity of the ballot-box. Had the Senator forgotten that impurity, flowing through all the arteries and veins of this Republic, may reduce it to a shapeless, rotten mass? Statesmen must not overlook small agencies. Mr. STUART pleaded earnestly for a conciliatory course on this question. Let the Kansas act, he said, be fairly executed. Let the people make a Constitution in their own way, and there will be peace in Kansas and in the country. Let the people exercise the privilege which in common with all within our borders belongs to them, and in a few days we can herald throughout the Union that Kansas has had her rights secured her in the legislative halls of the nation, that Lecompton is dead, and the people are free. He concluded by replying at much length to the several legal points laid down in Mr. PUGH'S recent speech, and announcing that he would vote against that gentleman's amendment.

[The galleries were crammed, and in the heat and confusion a lady fainted.]

Mr. DOUGLAS has just entered and is holding a long private confab with Mr. GREEN—the former looks ill. Everybody is trying to get a peep at him. The Turkish visitors have also just entered.

Mr. BAYARD, of Delaware, proceeded to demonstrate by a reference to numerous legal authorities, that the Lecompton Constitution was framed with all due formality, that the majority in Kansas were bound by the vote of the minority inasmuch as they are held to assent to what they could have avoided if they chose. He had heard there were no frauds in the vote as to whether or not Kansas should be admitted. The alleged frauds were at a subsequent Legislative election. Congress, he contended, had nothing to do with that. Arguing to the question of submission, he thought it would have been better to have submitted the question to the people; but that a submission was not necessary to its validity. He lived in a State (Delaware) whose Constitution was never submitted, yet he never doubted its validity. The only question dividing the people in Kansas, that of Slavery, was submitted fairly to their votes. Proceeding then to the question of Slavery, Mr. BAYARD argued at length the abstract right of property in existing slaves and Slave issue, and maintained that the Lecompton Constitution does not "establish" but merely "tolerates" Slavery, and that the Legislature can at any time emancipate the slaves in Kansas, with the owners' consent, or, by paying about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, can set the whole slave population free without the owners' consent. He then referred briefly to the Topeka Constitution, contending that it's authors were rebels, differing from the Mormons in only that they shrink from maintaining their rebellious attitude by force of arms. He also discussed at great length, the question of the ultimate power of revolution, and showed that the people can exercise the right to change their government peacefully and legitimately, without necessarily resorting to their revolutionary right. Mr. BAYARD concluded with an elaborate defence of Slavery.

M. BRODERICK, of California, reviewed at length the circumstances attending the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and the consequences following that repeal. The South, he said, by that fatal measure, destroyed its own interest, and was now seeking a remedy by a repeal of the Union. But, would a dissolution, he asked, prevent the immigration of free labor into the South? No. Wherever there is land for homes, there free labor will find its way. Had the Missouri line been permitted to stand, free labor would not have attempted to cross it. A Senator had said, "Cotton is King," but he had omitted to tell us about the fluctuations of that staple. Gold is King, said Mr. BRODERICK, not cotton. He (BRODERICK) represented a State where labor is honorable, where the highest persons are not ashamed to own they have delved in the earth. He was glad the Senator from South Carolina had spoken about white slaves, and he hoped that his language would stir up the 200,000 white men in that State, who are now kept in subjection by 30,000 wealthy slaveholders. The Senator from South Carolina had called the Northern laborers slaves. He did not think him personal, otherwise he should have noticed the remark at the time of its utterance. He (BRODERICK) was the youngest Senator, excepting one, upon the floor. He had served an apprenticeship of five years at a laborious occupation. He was the son of a laborer, and had only to look around that building to see evidence of his father's handiwork. He (BRODERICK) was tired of the struggles and jealousies of his class, and went to California. His election in that State to the Senate was not the result of accident, for he had to fight not only against the opposition of his own party, but against Presses subsidized with Government money. Leaving this personal explanation, he turned to his course in the Senate. He arrayed himself against the Lecompton Constitution, he said, because he believed that all the allegations of frauds against that instrument had been fully proved. These frauds are known to the President, and yet he keeps in office the men who committed the frauds. He hoped the historian of these times would attribute the attempt to force this measure to the petulance, failing intellect and trembling dotage of an old man, tottering on the verge of the grave.

The Senate here took a recess until 7 o'clock.

[Nine o'clock P. M.—There is a tremendous crush at the Senate. Our messengers are beaten back in their attempts to effect an entrance. It seems almost impossible to get in so as to obtain the report for the Associated Press.—TELEGRAPH OPERATOR.]

[Half-past Ten P. M.—Our messenger has just returned from the Capitol, and says there is no earthly chance of communication with the Reporter for the Associated Press, the crowd being so great. All approaches to the floor and gallery are perfectly inaccessible. We can do nothing but wait until Mr. DOUGLAS gets through with his speech, when it is thought the crowd will disperse.—TELEGRAPH OPERATOR.]

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

Mr. STEPHENS, of Georgia, offered a resolution to discharge Mr. WOLCOTT, and turn him over to the law for trial at the Criminal Court on the indictment which had been found against him.

Mr. PHILLIPS, of Pennsylvania, offered a substitute proposing to suspend the further execution of the order of the House until said indictment shall be disposed of.

Mr. STANTON, of Ohio, thought it improper to discharge WOLCOTT now. When the evidence is closed, the Committee of Investigation intend to propose a resolution similar to that of Mr. STEPHENS'.

Mr. STEPHENS said he offered the resolution in consequence of the extreme indisposition of Mr. WOLCOTT'S wife.

Mr. STANTON said a message to the Committee from Boston reported that it was no extreme sickness. He moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Disagreed to—Yeas, 59; Nays, 123.

Mr. HUGHES, of Indiana, offered an amendment for Mr. WOLCOTT'S unconditional discharge.

Rejected by Yeas, 22; Nays, 161.

Mr. PHILLIPS' substitute was finally rejected, and Mr. STEPHENS' resolution was adopted, by Yeas, 125; Nays, 67.

Mr. SEWARD, of Georgia, presented the majority report in the Matteson case, arguing against jurisdiction.

Mr. CURTIS, of Iowa, submitted the minority report in the same case.

The subject was postponed till Saturday.

The Deficiency Appropriation bill was then taken up.

Mr. GARNETT, of Virginia, made a speech in favor of the Lecompton Constitution, arguing that as long as the Constitution of Kansas lasts, Slavery must remain in that State: it can be altered only in the manner prescribed by that instrument. He believed, in the language of that Constitution, that the right of property is higher than any constitutional sanction; slave property is as sacred as any other, and has the Divine sanction. The issue now before Congress and the nation is, shall another Slave State be admitted? Do gentlemen, he asked, think the South will calmly surrender her rights? She claims, as one of those rights, the privilege of carrying her institutions to the Territories as freely as the North does hers.

Mr. BISHOP explained the position of the Democrats of Connecticut on the Slavery question, concluding by saying that the South have the right to move into the Territories with their property, whenever and wherever they choose, and that whenever a State is admitted into the Union, it may be with or without Slavery. We take, he said, the Constitution as we find it, not as we wish it to be. The Democrats of Connecticut and the North will stand by the South in all that is constitutional and right. He replied to the objections to the Lecompton Constitution, and advocated the admission of Kansas under it.

Mr. POTTLE, of New-York, said the present struggle did not begin with Kansas. It began with the Government, and has kept pace with it, and it is not likely to end until there is nothing left to struggle for. If the Union were dissolved to-day, the struggle would still go on, waxing fiercer and fiercer from that very cause It was an even progress, and would continue to undermine until the evil shall cease to exist. There can be no peace in Kansas until justice is done her people. The North will oppose fraud and violence, and will not be driven from that position by any threats of danger and disunion.

Mr. MORRIS of Ill., alluding to the remark of Mr. BISHOP relative to that State, pronounced the assertion a base slander. Illinois is not, as Mr. BISHOP intimated, unfaithful to her pecuniary obligations. She is not only faithful in this respect, but has ever remained true to her Democratic political integrity. Connecticut, he said, could not say so much for her politics. She contained within her borders the Hartford Convention; she has her blue laws, and during the last war she had her blue lights.

Mr. ABBOTT of Maine said the President's Message was the most singular document that ever emanated from an Executive. It was singular for its weakness and folly, for the absurdity of its conclusions, for the multiplicity of its falsehoods and for its perversions of history. When the President characterized as rebels and traitors the Free-State men of Kansas, he knew those charges were without foundation in truth. Reviewing the Dred Scott opinion, he said if it was true that the Constitution carries Slavery with it then there could not be freedom in any State, for every lawyer knew that no State law could conflict with the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. KELLOGG, of Illinois, said the policy of this Government has been debauched from its original course. The restriction of Freedom and extension of Slavery has aroused and will continue to arouse the public mind of the nation, until it shall be finally settled. The Republican Party was organized to lead back the Government to its original doctrine of freedom and purity of purpose, and when that shall be accomplished, to watch around her altar fires to see that she is not again despoiled. Until the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, Kansas was free in fact—but now the President complacently tells us she is as much a State Territory as any Slave State. In this march of wrong and violence, the natural and Constitutional rights of the freemen of Kansas have been outraged; but, though broken, they are not conquered. Their wrongs have met the condemnation of all just men.

The Committee rose at 20 minutes to 7, and the House adjourned.

NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Monday, March 22.

The Chair named as the Committee on the Comptroller's report, and on the bill relative to the equalization of assessments and taxation, Messrs. STOW, SCHELL and WADSWORTH.

REPORTS.

By Mr. WADSWORTH, to extend the commission to inquire into the mode and manner of conducting the Common Schools in the City of New-York to Jan. 1, 1859.

NOTICES OF BILLS.

By Mr. PRATT, to amend the law authorizing the printing of the catalogue of the State library once in five years, so as to have a supplementary catalogue printed once in two years.

By Mr. DOHERTY, to amend the law authorizing the loan of the moneys belonging to the United States deposit fund in the City of New-York. It allows the loan Commissioners in that City to receive one quarter of one per cent. on all loans over $50,000.

The bill in relation to the City Hall in New-York was ordered to a third reading.

Ordered to a third reading, the bill making Canal Appropriations for 1858. Also, to prevent the issue of fraudulent transfers of property by warehousemen, wharfingers and others.

By Mr. ESTY, to provide for a registry of titles to and liens on canal boats. It requires the Auditor to keep such register in his office. Any title or mortgage upon a boat thus recorded is to be subject to the same laws as apply to the registration of liens on real estate. A chattel mortgage on any boat is not to be valid till all recorded liens are discharged. It also provides for the publication of the law and the same fees as in registration and search on real estate.

EVENING SESSION.

The resolutions respecting State Kansas Aid Societies were taken up,—Mr. D. B. BALDWIN and others spoke upon them.

City Items.

Several contractors, a very large number of those who sun themselves daily in front of the Coroners' Office in Centre, near Chambers-street, and citizens generally, were aroused to an unusual degree of excitement yesterday by a singular demonstration on the part of a horse. The said horse was the property of Mr. GOODWIN, a contractor, and had been tied by his owner in front of the City Hall, while he (the owner) went inside to attend to a little matter of business. While he was away his horse became dissatisfied with the arrangement; broke his halter; ran around the City Hall, at a rapid rate; deposited a portion of the buggy attached to him in front of the Courts; proceeded across Centre-street; deposited the remainder of the buggy against a gas post; entered the Eldorado drinking saloon by the side door, with some damage to the glass caused a number of very thirsty gentlemen to drop their tods and bark their shins, in a desperate effort to get inside the bar; passed through the bar-room and out through a closed window in the rear, and landed on his feet in an area-way some 12 feet below. Arrived there, he examined himself with some concern, and was evidently much gratified by finding that he had met with nothing more than an accident common to those who make demonstrations in drinking saloons, namely, a bloody nose. He then surveyed the vault into which he had precipitated himself, and not liking it, was about to demonstrate further, when some of his friends intimated that the police were up stairs looking for him, and advised him to go home or he would be arrested. He consented to go home peacefully, if he could be allowed to visit the oyster saloon under the Eldorado—a request that was granted immediately—and he passed through it and up the stairs to the street, without taking anything more to drink, and with a mere wistful glance at a quantity of "East Rivers" that lay in a basket. He elbowed his way through the crowd, and entirely eluded the half dozen policemen who were watching for him through the broken rear window through which he had jumped. The bar-keepers in both establishments are willing to swear that he did not get any rum from them. There was considerable disappointment on the part of the crowd, many of whom thought DEVLIN had been declared Street Commissioner, and that the contractors were giving free drinks on that account.

The Central Park Police, 24 men, were sworn in yesterday morning, in the office of the Chief Clerk of the Police Department. They are a fine-looking corps. They wear black fustian coats, trimmed with red cord; military fatigue caps, with similar trimming; and buckskin overalls, over their pantaloons. On the breast they wear the shield of the Metropolitan Police. They attracted a great deal of attention as they passed through the streets in this costume.

An old and well-known printer named SAMUEL FARNHAM, died suddenly on Sunday morning at the Herald office, from the effects of a blow received a few evenings since, during a fight in a Broadway drinking saloon.

There are in this City nearly forty thousand women who sew for a living. About 12,000 of these are shirt-makers, 11,000 tailoresses and vest-makers, 4,400 cloak and mantilla makers, 3,000 dressmakers and milliners, besides those employed in other branches of needlework. Most of these women have been out of employment during the past Winter; only about 3,000 of them it is said have had work to do during this period. Shirt-makers generally receive 25 cents a day. The introduction of sewing-machines has thrown a great many out of employment. The means of relieving the sewing women are to be discussed in a series of lectures, by the Rev. Dr. CHAPIN, GEO. W. CURTIS, Esq., LUCY STONE, and the Hon. ELI THAYER. On Thursday, the 25th inst., JAMES T. BRADY, Esq., will deliver a discourse on the legal enactments required for women. The proceeds of the lectures will be given to the Shirt-Sewers' and Seamstresses' Union.

Mr. F. G. Q. UMSTED, the Wall-street lawyer, charged with attempting to shoot Mr. W. H. L. BARNES, another Wall-street lawyer, gave bail yesterday before Justice CONOLLY to answer the charge preferred against him.

R. H. SHANNON, Esq, at the request of Messrs. S. S. RANDALL, WM. HIBBARD and other distinguished citizens, has consented to repeat his lecture on "Kansas as it is," at Hope Chapel, to-morrow evening.

The Democratic City Convention met at a place called Tammany Hall, in York-street, last evening, but adjourned to Monday next, without making any nominations.

Brooklyn City Items.

An adjourned meeting of the Brooklyn Common Council was held last evening. A resolution against the admission of Kansas as a Slave State was offered by Alderman CASHOW, but was declared out of order and was not again offered. The Special Committee on the charges against Alderman PIERSON reported that with the sanction of the Mayor a small lot of stationery was sent to his house, that he has some stock in the City Railroad Company, and has appeared in several cases for the said Company. The Committee recommended that the report be adopted, and that they be discharged, which was done. The Committee on awarding the contract for the new Armory, made a report, but it was referred back to them after a lengthy debate, as there are no funds in the treasury to warrant the award of the contract. The Clerk was directed to order the charter election and give notice of a special election to fill the offices of Comptroller, Auditor and Treasurer. The polling places were also selected.

The Brooklyn Eagle says that Mr. STANTON, President of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, entered the Eagle Office yesterday morning and offered violence to Mr. VAN ANDEN, its proprietor. It is also reported that the ire of the President was aroused by the Eagle's notice of the demise of a donkey that belonged to the Railroad Company. Mr. VAN ANDEN, who, fortunately, was not injured, intends, he says, to apply legal punishment to his offender.

EDWARD FAIRCHILD, who was run over by a fire engine on Tuesday night last, on Fulton-street, near the City Hall, died at the residence of his mother, corner Powers and Dean streets yesterday morning, from the injuries then received. The deceased was not a fireman, but was on his way home at the time of the accident. He was a book-keeper in the Mercantile establishment of B. T. WILDE, No. 25 Broadway, New-York, and was the sole support of a widowed mother and two sisters.

House No. 262 Sacket-street, owned and occupied by G. BARTLET, was damaged by fire to the extent of $600, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Insured in the Commercial Insurance Company.

During the forty-eight hours ending yesterday morning, the Police made 71 arrests, and during the same period of time 81 persons were accommodated with lodgings at the different stations.

The Republicans of the Seventeenth Ward of Brooklyn (Green Point) have nominated the following Ward officers: CHAUNCEY PERRY, Esq., for Alderman; JOHN B. DOWNING, for Supervisor; JEREMIAH V. MESEROLE, for Assessor, and JOHN A. STEPHENS, for Constable.

The parties guilty of throwing a dissected body into the water at the foot of Twentieth-street, Gowanus, will be punished for violating a law against leaving a body exposed.

AFFAIRS IN HAVANA.

The Financial Difficulties of Cuba Before the Spanish Cortes—Gen. Concha's Excursion—The Sugar Crop—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Monday, March 15, 1858.

The last mail from Spain brings intelligence of the proceedings of the Spanish Cortes in reference to the financial difficulties of Cuba, the whole of which have been kindly laid on General CONCHA'S shoulders by Senator QUEIPO, formerly holding an important office in the Government of this island. He was removed by CONCHA for some cause or other, kept a secret from our public, and has improved the first opportunity to gratify his thirst for revenge by calumniating his absent enemy. Though all the Cuban Stock Companies have been organized within the last twelve months, yet CONCHA has had no direct interference in the matter, a commission having been appointed for that purpose. To disapprove the acts of this commission without well-grounded reasons would have brought upon him a heavy responsibility and the enmity of all. He simply approved their acts, which were guided by the letter of the law, and let the thing take its own course. Señor QUEIPO'S animadversions met but little response in the Cortes. The Havana journals naturally have undertaken to defend the General, and I suppose they will perform the duty to his entire satisfaction.

CONCHA returned but last Saturday from his excursion to the island of Pines and the San Diego baths. Whilst absent in the country he was waited upon by WM. CHAUNCEY, the American sailor, who was sentenced some years ago to the chain-gang for being concerned in the African slave-trade. The General listened to CHAUNCEY'S petition, and in the name of Queen ISABEL granted him a full pardon and sent him with a glad heart to Havana. Among the whole lot of prisoners confined in the island of Pines, none is more worthy of this boon than poor CHAUNCEY. I do not defend his crime, but as the Spaniards and Portugese were allowed to escape without any punishment, the whole should not have fallen upon the Americans. It may prove a warning to other countrymen of his who are now busily fitting out expeditions in this port, regardless of the risks they run in being captured on the coast. Some ten or twelve have sailed hence since the beginning of the year, and as many more getting ready. I'm afraid General CONCHA needs another spur of the public opinion in the United States and England to incite him to display the same energy in capturing these slavers as was exhibited last Fall. There are just as many arriving now as on any previous occasion, and the fact is publicly talked of. A little more vigilance on the part of the authorities, and all would go well.

Our sugar-growing population has been recently increased by a fresh cargo imported by a French screw steamer. Several other vessels of the same class are daily expected. The demand for this class of laborers increases daily. Whenever fairly experimented, they have been found admirably adapted for the necessities of this climate and prove to be excellent hands,—much too good for the management of the ignorant "mayorals" into whose hands the Cuban planter generally intrusts his estate. They require to be better fed and clothed than the negro, and if this is properly attended to and their wages paid with punctuality, they are subordinate and as faithful in the discharge of their duties as any other free laborers in the world.

The order of the Secretary of the Treasury, allowing Spanish smacks to proceed to Key West to load live fish, free from the onerous duties hitherto imposed on them, so great as to render it impossible to trade, has been kindly received by our population. Fish is such a luxury in Havana, that any measure that tends to reduce its present exorbitant prices, fills with joy the hearts of hundreds of poor families who are unable to provide this species of food. I think the Key Westers will be equally benefited in finding a good market for their fish.

Lent this year has been extremely dull, probably owing to the departure of the Opera troupe, and the entire absence of strangers. Madame VESTVALI has given three operas at Tacon with her troupe and was well received, more from gallantry than any intrinsic merit in the artists themselves. SMITH'S great Panorama of Europe is doing well at the Circo, and HANNING'S collection of fine Paintings meets with marked favors from the Habaneros, but all these amusements are rather too highly priced for the people at large.

The weather has been intensely cold, and in several districts in the interior frost has been formed which has destroyed the cane considerably. The crop will be short about 200,000 boxes.

The health of the city is perfectly satisfactory, as far as yellow fever is concerned. The small-pox, however, lingers among us in as malignant a form as before. Until it finds no more victims we can hardly expect a respite.

Personal.

The following is a list of Americans registered at the Banking-office of the American-European Express Company, Paris, from Feb. 18 to March 4, 1858: New-York—W. E. Schenck and wife; C. L. We (London Leader) have heard with deep and sincere regret that there is no probability of Mr. Cobden accepting a seat in Parliament for a long time to come. Domestic afflictions, one upon another, conspire to prevent him from taking any active part in public business. In the existing state of the liberal party in the House, so confused and incoherent in its principles and its personal followings, the presence and authority of Mr. Bright's traditional compeer would be felt as an earnest of a policy and a pledge of independence and advance.

English papers state that a Mrs. Welch, hostess of the Rose and Crown Inn, at Ampthill, Bedfordshire, has eloped from her husband, taking with her considerable property, in company with a trader named Rogers, a Mormon, who, having converted Mrs. Welch to Mormonism, had induced her to abandon her husband, and fly with him to Utah. Mrs. Welch has left four children behind her, and Mr. Welch offers £30 to any one who will bring her back to Ampthill.

Townsend alias McHenry made his escape from the jail in Merrittville (Can.) last Saturday night. He unlocked the door of his cell with a skeleton key, dug a hole through the side of the jail with a hatchet, scaled the yard fence, and fled. A heavy reward has been offered for his capture, dead or alive. Large police forces are scouring the country in search of him.

One of the men killed by the explosion of the bombs of the 14th January, was a naturalized American, Mr. Haas. He had been in Paris several years, acting as an agent for the purchase of goods for American importing houses. He was wounded in the head, and died, after several weeks' confinement, from purulent absorption.

Marshal Bosquet, who was lately seized, while proceeding to the Bois de Bologne on horseback, with an attack of apoplexy, remains paralysed on one side, and it is feared may never recover the use of his limbs. Marshal Canrobert also met with a less serious accident in falling from his horse.

Mr. Gordon Cummings, the famous South African hunter, has been indicted in Dublin for indecency. On neglecting to appear at the Police Office to answer the charges brought against him, his bail to the amount of £200 sterling was forfeited and paid.

Sir Frederick Thesiger, the new Lord Chancellor of England, has taken his title from the town of Chelmsford, from the fact that it was there that, early in his professional life, he first took his position in a great cause as a leader on Circuit.

The Rev. Mr. Seeley, American minister in Paris, is preaching in the Taitbout Chapel, waiting for the opening of the American Chapel in that city, now shortly to take place.

The last official act of Lord Palmerston was to send a donation of £100 to Mrs. Mogridge, the widow of the admirable writer so long known as "Old Humphrey."

It is reported that Edwin Forrest has abandoned the stage, and proposes to open a liquors-tore in Chicago.

A Savannah paper states that the fugitive, Thomas Allsop, was lately seen by an English gentleman in Savannah.

The Hudson's Bay Company Question.

The correspondence that has taken place between the British Colonial Office, on the one side, and the Government of Canada and the Hudson's Bay Company on the other, in consequence of the report of the Select Committee on the affairs of the Company, which sat during the last session of Parliament, has been printed by order of the House of Commons, on the motion of Mr. Roebuck.

The first letter, dated Jan. 20, 1858, is from Mr. H. Merivale, on behalf of the Government, to the Governor of the Company, informing him of the conditions on which they are prepared to advise the Queen to renew the license of the Company for exclusive trading with the Indians for a further term of twenty-one years from its approaching expiration on the 30th of May, 1859. These conditions are, the reservation, as in the present license, of any territories which may be formed by the British Government into colonies, and the exception of Vancouver's Island, as already constituted a colony. This island it is intended to repurchase and take from the Company on the expiration of the existing license, and the Directors are requested to furnish the Government with a statement of the sums for which they claim repayment as expended by them upon the island, and as the value of their establishments and effects, according to the terms of the grant. With regard to the determination of the boundary between Canada and the territories claimed by the Company under their charter, it has been suggested by the legal advisers of the Crown that it should be referred to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Counsel, in which course the Directors of the Company were willing to concur; but Mr. Merivale informs the Governor that he has no authority to state that the province of Canada is also prepared to concur in it, unless allowed at the same time to discuss the further question of the validity of the charter itself, a question, which, on public grounds, the Imperial Government do not consider themselves authorized to raise. If, therefore, any parties in Canada propose to take measures towards contesting the Company's rights to the fullest extent before a legal tribunal, the Imperial Government will leave them to take that course on their own responsibility. If, on the other hand, Canada thinks it expedient to agree to the course now proposed—namely, that of trying the question of boundary alone—the Imperial Government will afford every facility in their power for its determination.

Supposing that no such proceedings are taken, and that Canada declines to contest the question of boundary in the manner suggested, Mr. Labouchere is of opinion that the objects recommended by the Committee may be attained by another course. He will then be prepared to propose to Canada, and to the Company, as a further condition of the renewal of the license, that the Company should surrender to the Crown such portions of the territory claimed by it under the charter as may be eligible for settlement, and required by Canada for that purpose. The districts likely to be required are those on the Red River and the Saskatchewan, which should be annexed to Canada when the Provincial Government has made a road connecting them with Canada, and given satisfactory evidence of an intention to take steps for laying out townships, and settling and administering the affairs of the new districts. Thus the annexation might be gradual, in case it should suit the convenience of the several parties interested.

For the purpose of arranging this affair, Mr. Labouchere proposes the appointment of three Commissioners, one to be nominated by Canada, one by the Company, and one by the Imperial Government, who should be authorized to consider and report upon the amount of compensation which may be due to the Company in consequence of the annexation, and in respect of property which they may be required to surrender. Mr. Labouchere further proposes that facilities should be afforded to British subjects to undertake fisheries or mining operations within the territory held by the Company, under licenses or leases from the Crown, any territorial rights of the Company notwithstanding; but such grants are not to be made unless the parties applying for them give the Government and the Company substantial proof of their competency, and of the bona fide nature of their intentions, nor unless proper security be taken against the interference of such parties with the fur trade of the Company with the Indians.

To this communication Mr. J. Shepherd, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, replied on the following day, on behalf of himself and his brother directors, expressing their willingness to recommend the propositions of the Government to the proprietary body. They observe, however, that the territories mentioned as those that may probably be first desired by the Government of Canada, namely, the Red River and Saskatchewan districts, are not only valuable to the Hudson's Bay Company as stations for carrying on the fur trade, but that they are also of peculiar value to the Company as being the only source from which their annual stock of provisions is drawn, particularly the staple article of pemmican, a regular supply of which is absolutely necessary to enable the officers of the Company to transport their goods to the numerous inland and distant stations, and to feed and maintain the people, both Europeans and Indians, stationed at them. They draw attention, therefore, to the fact that the ultimate loss of these districts will most probably involve the Company in very serious difficulties, and cause a great increase of expense in conducting their trade. They assume that the Canadian Government will be responsible for the preservation of peace and the maintenance of law and order in all the territories ceded to them, and that they will prevent lawless and dishonest adventurers from infringing from thence the rights of the Company over the remaining portions of their territory. With regard to the power of the Crown to grant leases or licenses for undertaking and conducting mining operations and fisheries, the directors are prepared to recommend the shareholders to concur in it, on the understanding that the principle of compensation shall apply to such cases as fully as in respect of the cession of territory to Canada. They state, in conclusion, that they are willing to enter upon a new tenure of their engagements under the renewed license, upon being assured of the support of the Imperial Government, and of the cordial coöperation of the neighboring Government of Canada, in maintaining tranquillity and order among the Indian tribes, and protecting the frontiers of the whole adjacent British territories from foreign encroachment.

The correspondence closes with a dispatch from Mr. Labouchere to Sir E. Head, with which were sent copies of the correspondence between the Colonial Office and the Company, for the consideration of himself and council. In this dispatch Mr. Labouchere states that it is the anxious desire of the Imperial Government to take the opportunity afforded by the approaching termination of the Company's license of exclusive trade over the Indian Territory, for placing the relations in which the Company is placed, both towards Canada and towards the Imperial Government, upon such a footing as shall be consonant with justice, and at the same time conducive to the satisfaction and to the interests of Canada.

With regard to the question of the validity of the Company's claims, in virtue of their charter over the whole territory known as Rupert's Land, the British Government have come to the conclusion that it would be impossible for them to institute proceedings with the view of raising this question before a legal tribunal, without departing from those principles of equity by which they ought to be guided. But with regard to the question of boundary, as distinguished from that of the validity of the charter, they are anxious to afford every facility towards its solution, in the manner indicated in the correspondence with the Company, if such should be the desire of Canada. M. Labouchere expresses the hope that, in any case, a means may be provided, which will afford to Canada the means of obtaining any districts which she may require for the purposes of settlement, and to which she may be able to afford the benefits of administration and protection. The tracts claimed by the Company under its charter are conterminous on the north and west with the whole of Canada; and Mr. Labouchere looks to the gradual aggregation of such portions of those tracts as may be found available. He concludes his dispatch by recommending this important subject to the early consideration of Sir E. Head and his advisers, and by observing that the British Government can have no wish regarding it than, consistently with the principles of good faith, to promote the prosperity and consult the feelings of the people of Canada in this matter, as well as to provide for the security of law and order in those vast regions, in the maintenance of which Canada has herself so deep an interest.

The whole question, is now, therefore, before the Canadian Government, and, whatever view of it may be taken by Sir E. Head and the Legislature, the result will be a movement towards the districts to be annexed, both for settlement and for the furtherance of private enterprise in developing the mineral resources of this extensive territory. The Red River district, as being nearest both to Canada and to the proposed line of Railroad from Chicago to the Pacific, will, naturally, be the first towards which the tide of colonization will tend; and from thence it will soon surge along the valley of the Saskatchewan, which intersects by both its branches the most extensive coal field of the northwest region. The change of Government in England is not likely to interfere with the realization of the views of Mr. Labouchere and his late colleagues. Lord Stanley, the new Colonial Secretary, has a character for liberality, and the precarious hold which his party have upon the House of Commons, will render him unwilling to risk it, even if he were inclined to reverse the policy of his predecessor.

Action of the American Government in Regard to China.

No. 81 City Exchange,
Boston, Wednesday, March 17, 1858.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

It is with great satisfaction I have read your remarks under date of the 13th inst., on "The Capture of Canton and its Consequences," and shall forward the paper to China, where I know the Americans there resident will thank you for what you have published.

Yours are the only sensible editorials I have seen touching our relations with China, since my arrival from there on the 24th August last. After an immediate residence of five years and a preceding one of eight years, I left China on the 12th of February, 1857, hoping to reach home in time to have some influence in inducing our Government to adopt such views as it now appears would have met your approval, but being detained with my family at Manila, I found on arrival that Mr. Reed had sailed, and reluctantly concluded, from what I saw and heard, that as none of our public men could make capital, either political or pecuniary, out of the China question, it would receive no attention at their hands.

The English in China were very justly annoyed that we took no part in their support, not only because it was clear that we should be benefited by their operations, but because our flag was insulted and outraged even more than theirs was, and we did little or nothing in the way of resentment. We began a good work when we captured and destroyed the Barrier Forts, and the Americans in China supposed it would be continued, when they read the circular of the American Minister, Dr. Parker, dated on board the flagship San Jacinto, 25th November, 1856, declaring that Commodore Armstrong "would not desist from the measures which the policy of the Imperial Commission imposed upon him, till the apologies for the outrage to the flag, and guarantees for its proper respect in future, were obtained."

Neither apology for the past nor guarantee for the future was ever obtained. On the contrary, Commodore Armstrong, after destroying the captured forts, withdrew his ships immediately from Whampoa to the British settlement of Hong Kong, and in such haste that the American firm of Thomas Hunt & Co. (with whom rested the U. S. Consular Agency at Whampoa) had not time to remove their effects, which were subsequently (and very soon) destroyed by the Chinese, notwithstanding an American flag was flying over their dock-yard, and chops stating the ownership of the property were pasted on the gates and posts about them. The American Bethel, too, was removed from its anchorage at Whampoa, and destroyed, and a man (a German, I believe) was murdered in Dr. Ryder's chop, anchored there, with the American flag flying at the time! This last act was probably the result of Yeh's offer of reward for the heads of foreigners, as was also the exhuming and beheading the bodies of the American sailors who fell in action at the Barrier Forts—and ALL in direct violation of those treaty stipulations which give immunity to our churches and burial-grounds.

Why have we a navy if acts like these are to pass unnoticed? and what aid or protection can Americans hereafter expect in China, if these and other wrongs go unredressed? To what source can they look for indemnification of pecuniary losses already suffered through the action of the Government of China? or is it to be understood that our Government ceases to care for us the moment of departure from our shores?

There appears to be a feeling in this country that the English, at the commencement of the difficulty at Canton, pressed with China a point they would not have raised with a more powerful nation, and in the case of the lorcha Arrow, gave protection to a vessel that not only had no right to the British flag, but was, moreover, a pirate and smuggler.

Those who hold such views are not informed of the true merits of the case, and are ignorant of the efforts of H. B. Majesty's civil officers to ward off collision with the naval forces, which were not called in until their action could no longer be dispensed with, and would have been dropped at any moment had Yeh shown the slightest desire to avoid trouble or to respect treaty rights.

The lorcha Arrow wore British colors, and had English papers, by virtue of an ordinance passed, and published at Victoria, Hong-Kong, communicated to the Chinese Government and accepted by it several years ago. It is true, I believe, that the Law Officers of the British Crown have lately decided that the Government at Victoria could not legally enact an ordinance like that referred to; but of this British officers in China were ignorant, and so were the officers of the Chinese Government; and the latter cannot find in this later legal decision an excuse for their course at the time they boarded the Arrow in Canton River.

The charge of smuggling and piracy was never made against the Arrow by any officer of the Chinese Government; and when boarded, her papers were deposited in the British Consulate at Canton. Thither the Captain repaired immediately the outrage was committed, and made his protest that his flag had been hauled down and his Chinese crew taken prisoners by a Mandarin force lying near him.

Mr. Consul Parkes immediately visited the Mandarin boat, and was told that the crew had been seized, because the captain of a trading junk sailing past had declared that he recognized two of the men as parties concerned in an act of piracy on his vessel some time before. The Captain of the lorcha informed Mr. Parkes that he knew nothing of the previous history of the men referred to, that he had shipped them on the then present voyage, and they had been well behaved while on board the Arrow. Moreover, it did not appear probable that they could have been on the spot of the alleged piracy at the date given, and from thence reached the Arrow at the time they entered on board.

Mr. Parkes therefore represented to the Mandarin that by the Treaty between England and China, Chinese officers could visit English vessels only through the agency of the British Consulate, (and the same rule applies to French and American shipping,) but, nevertheless, said Mr. Parkes, I will overlook the irregularity of the men's seizure if you will only send them bound as they are through the British Consulate to the City, that I may correspond with the Governor about them, as the Treaty and my own duty requires me to do. To this Mr. Parkes was answered with abuse and threats of personal violence if he did not leave the Mandarin vessel at once.

Of course, he withdrew and represented the case to the Governor, and received only still greater abuse in reply. H. E. Gov. Bowring then addressed Gov. Yeh with like result. Repeated communications were sent in by the Consul and Plenipotentiary, but their forbearance and attempts at conciliation, were treated by Yeh with contempt and insult, till patience ceased to be a virtue, and Admiral Seymour, with his forces, were compelled to interfere in protection of British rights and privileges so madly and foolishly assailed. Respectfully yours, Americus.

"The Amin Bey Fraud."

Constantinople, Thursday, Feb. 18, 1858.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

An article, scurrilous in its nature, but nevertheless amusing to us who, living in Constantinople, know all about the matter, has recently appeared in the New-York Tribune and other papers, under the above title. Americans who, like myself, have long enjoyed the protection of the Legation of our country here, and been the daily recipients of the kindness of its officers, are not affected in any other way than through our risibilities by any article of the kind.

However, for the benefit of the "Curious Reader," in whom the correspondent takes so much interest, I will endeavor in some degree truly to unfold "the tale that hangs thereby."

Amin Bey, who in 1851 undertook, by an order of the Sultan, a mission to the United States, is a Professor of great ability in the Turkish Naval Academy at Constantinople, and was promoted after his return in grade to the rank of a Colonel. The kindness which he experienced at the hands of the American Government and people, elicited very warm thanks from the Sultan to the President, personally offered through the American Legation, who it is believed did not suppress them. Out of his mission has grown another of much greater importance, viz.: that of H. E. Mohammed Pasha, who, with his suite, has just gone to America for the purpose of constructing a seventy-four gun-ship, which is to bear the name of the Sultan, and which we shall all be proud to see floating in Turkish waters as a specimen of American skill and handiwork.

Mention is made in the letter alluded to of a diamond ring said to be presented by the Sultan to Francis Dainese. This is explained in this way, and I take so much pains to inform the American public, that it may not be imposed upon further by this charlatan, for as such he is well known here, and in hopes that a foreigner may not be allowed to assume the privileges belonging only to Americans. This Dainese, through an Italian, who being at that time in the employ of this Government, had access to the Grand Vizier, presented to the late lamented Reschid Pasha a carbine, a copy of the Patent Office Reports, and some American seeds. Reschid Pasha, whose kindness has always been proverbial, and who never received from a stranger the slightest present without making a return, caused to be given to him the ring, with which he says the Sultan endeavored to counteract the evil influences of the Dragoman of the Legation.

There is but one instance of a present of the kind being made to an American, and he was a native of Boston, a Mr. Thos. K. Cummins, who, some two years ago, being engaged in the ice business, sent to the Sultan, with true American generosity, a beautiful refrigerator and a supply of Wenham Lake ice. The Sultan was so much pleased at this that he personally caused a ring of great value to be given to him. It is useless to endeavor to compare the character of this Dainese with that of one whom he endeavors to traduce, and who has earned the respect and confidence of his Government and countrymen by years of long and faithful service of the former and courtesy and kindness to the latter. I am led to say this much by my knowledge of the facts, and by the fact that in Turkey, where we have not the American freedom of the press, the article before mentioned might be otherwise misunderstood. If the "Curious Reader" should desire further to investigate the facts of the case, or to view the character of this Dainese in all its blackness, he has only to refer to the printed documents of the last session of Congress, in which he is blazoned in his true colors. He is at his last gasp, and in his dying agonies he turns against even those upon whom his last hope depends. He endeavors to display himself as the victim of a conspiracy in which he even has the impudence to characterize men in high official positions, as the "hounds who kennel in the Department of State." These attacks will finally rebound upon himself, and his greatest punishment is to leave him to his own curses, which—like the young chickens of the Arab proverb—"always come home to roost." E. P. UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Before Judge Hall.

The United States vs. Calvin Ryder and William Woods.—This case was continued to-day. The Chinaman, Josephs, was cross-examined at great length by Judge Beebe. On his direct examination he had testified that he was a Catholic. On the cross he said, I have never been to church here, but went in China to the Chin-Chin Church; there believed the China religion; I became a Catholic in Court up to the sky; have never talked with a Catholic priest, nor with any Christian on the subject of religion; we have Chinese gods where I board, but can't worship them there; I like China gods best.

Joseph's wife, who was stewardess on board the Escoriaza, was called, and testified to nearly the same matters as when examined before the Commissioner. She made out a most horrible case of beating, saying that the mate jumped upon Joseph's head and stomach as much as a hundred times; that he lay half an hour on the deck, during which the mate did nothing but kick and jump on him; kicked him as many as fifty times, principally in his face and head, as hard as he could; did not strike him.

Her evidence was too strong, as her husband had testified that the mate struck him three times, and kicked him three times, but did not jump on him. She was not in Court, however, when he testified.

It was also proved that she had said that she could not help testifying as she did before the Commissioner, because her husband's countrymen compelled her to.

The defence also proved that the Chinaman had a quarrel with the second mate, in which he scalded his arm, by throwing a dipper of hot water at him; that there was nothing in the medicine chest of the Escoriaza which could have burnt him as he testified to, and that, if he had been so burnt by vitriol, the marks would be still remaining.

The good character of the accused was admitted, and, the Jury disbelieving the testimony for the prosecution, rendered a verdict of "Not Guilty" in favor of both defendants.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term.

DECISIONS.

Before Hon. Justice Clerke.

Blaisdell vs. Raymond et al.—Motion denied with $5 costs.

Fanny Thompson vs. Robert Thompson.—Divorce granted.

Mary J. Johnson vs. Wm. H. Johnson.—Divorce granted.

SUPERIOR COURT—Trial Term—March 22.

Before Hon. Justice Woodruff.

THE JOSEPH WALKER CASE—SUIT AGAINST FERNANDO WOOD FOR DAMAGES.

Daniel Dodge and George S. Barnes vs. Fernando Wood and Jones, and thirteen others.—This is an action brought by one of the workmen engaged in raising the Joseph Walker. He contracted to raise the vessel, the circumstances of which are well known. Mr. Fernando Wood, at that time Mayor of the City, desiring the contract, according to the allegation, to be given to Mr. Jones, sent down a posse of policemen under pretence of preventing a riot, but, as the plaintiffs allege, in reality, to oust the plaintiffs and put Jones in possession. A large number of men were sent down, and some words ensuing, Mr. Barnes got pitched overboard and severely injured. The matter was taken from their hands, and the plaintiffs suffered severe loss, wherefore they sue the Mayor, Jones and the policemen, for the damages they sustained.

On the trial, which was commenced yesterday, considerable trouble was found in getting an unprejudiced jury.

Mr. Cutting opened for the plaintiffs.

Mr. Edmonds stated that he appeared for Mr. Wood only, and not for the other defendants.

Mr. Cutting then read the deposition of Nathaniel S. Wing, taken by consent. It states that in May, 1855, he was employed by George S. Barnes and Daniel Dodge to raise the Joseph Walker. It stated the nature of the means employed to raise the vessel. The materials and labor for raising it cost $9,274 29, exclusive of the chains which were hired. The officer told deponent that the Mayor had ordered him to dispossess deponent and his men and put in Mr. Jones, and if deponent did not leave peaceably, to use force. Deponent went and told Mr. Dodge. On returning, all the men were ashore but Barnes, who refused to leave the place, on the ground that the property was his own. He was standing on the forward truss-work. Jones told him to come ashore. Deponent then went off to tell Dodge what had taken place, and on returning found Barnes in the water holding on to one of the piles. He was finally rescued, however. The deposition refers to the controversy between the parties. As it has before been published, it is unnecessary to repeat it.

The Ex-Mayor was present during the proceedings.

Before Hon. Justice Pierrepont.

BANK-NOTE COUNTERFEITING—SLANDER SUIT.

W. L. Ormsby vs. Benjamin Douglas.—This action is brought against the proprietor of the Mercantile Agency for a slander in making a statement that the plaintiff was a counterfeiter. Plaintiff is an engraver, and author of a work advocating a reform in bank-note engraving. He alleges that the defendant circulated the report of his connection with counterfeiters, for the purpose of injuring him. He claims $10,000 damages.

The defendant sets up that the remark in question was made confidentially, in the course of his regular business, and in the belief that it embodied the truth. He also claims that the defendant was in the habit of engraving for any casual applicant for plates without inquiring into his character or the object for which the plates were to be used, and that in this way he engraved counterfeit plates on a number of banks in this and other States.

MARKET REPORTS.

Markets...... Carefully Reported for the N. Y. Times.

New-York, Monday, March 22, 1858—6 P. M.

SALTPETRE—340 bags sold in Boston at 6c., cash, and 6½c., 6 months, ꝑ ℔.

SUGARS—Are in lively request at buoyant prices. Sales since our last 1,400 hhds., including Cuba at 6⅛c.@6½c.; Porto Rico, 7c.@7½c.; and New-Orleans at 5½c.@7¼c. ꝑ ℔.; also, by auction, 330 hhds. New-Orleans at $5 50@$6 94 ꝑ 100 ℔s. Refined Sugars are all brisk and buoyant. R. L. & A. Stuart's quotations are as follows: Loaf Sugar 11½c.; Crushed Sugar 11½c.; Crude and Crushed Sugar 11c.; Ground Sugar 10½c.

TALLOW—5,000 ℔s. prime brought 10½c. ꝑ ℔. 2,000 ℔s. rough fat 7½c. ꝑ ℔.

WHISKY—Sales 180 bbls. in lots, at 23c. ꝑ gallon.

WOOL—Sales transpired, in Providence, R. I., during the week, of only 13,000 ℔s. Fleece at 35c.@40c.; and 4,000 ℔s. pulled at 25c.@32½c. ꝑ ℔. Sales were made in Boston of 250,000 ℔s. domestic at prices within the range of from 20c.@45c. for Fleece, and 20c.@40c. for Pulled; 290 bales Mediterranean; 27,000 ℔s. and 273 bales Cape; and 40,000 ℔s. Shoddy, on private terms. The first of the series of public sales of foreign and colonial Wool in London for the present year commenced on the 25th ult., and were to close on the 18th inst. The quantity to be offered amounts to about 30,000 bales, including a rather large amount of Cape Wool, and also some low East India and China descriptions. There was a full attendance of both home and foreign buyers, and the biddings were moderately active. The prices realized, compared with those current at the close of the last sales in December, show an advance of about ½d.@1d. ꝑ ℔. on the finer qualities of Australian Wool. Cape Wools have also shown a slight improvement.

FREIGHTS—The engagements were rather more extensive, at quoted rates. For Liverpool, Cotton 3-16d.@7-32d. ꝑ ℔.; Flour 1s. 6d.@1s. 9d. ꝑ bbl.; Grain, 4¾d.@5½d. ꝑ bushel; Resin, 2s.@2s. 1½d. ꝑ bbl.; Beef 3s. 6d. ꝑ tc., and Heavy Goods 15s.@20s. ꝑ ton. For London, Flour, 2s.; Pork, 3s.@3s. 3d. ꝑ bbl.; Pork and Beef 4s. 3d.@4s. 6d. ꝑ tc.; Naval Stores, 2s. 3d.@2s. 6d. ꝑ 280 ℔s.; Oil-Cake, 20s.; Heavy Goods, 25s. ꝑ ton. For other ports proportionate rates.

comprising the most distinguished Parisian novelties, also a superb collection of New-York manufacture, designed and executed by the most celebrated artists in the country, equal to any that can possibly be produced, and at prices to suit the times.
Ladies are assured that the assortment here presented will challenge comparison with any in the city, and they will not be required to pay the hitherto "fancy prices" exacted by first class milliners.
N. B.—This house claims especial attention from strangers and visitors, as only one price is asked, from which there is no deviation and all articles shown may be relied upon as being what they are represented.
Opening day, Thursday, March 25.
WILLIAM BUCHANAN MACKENZIE.

GRAY'S BOTANIES—RECENTLY REVISED and completed, and commended in the highest terms by the most eminent living naturalists, Agassiz, Torrey, Hitchcock, Silliman, Dana, and many others, American and European. The series embraces volumes adapted to each grade of learners, and is the most economical as well as excellent in all respects, extant. Among the testimonials of the superior merit of these works, are some from parties who, many years ago, and before these were published, wrote recommendations of other Botanies, which—the recommendations, not the books—circulate as largely as ever still, but minus their dates. Those who think ten years may make a difference in the progress of science will do well to examine Gray's Botanies, or send for a circular giving the present opinions of the most distinguished Botanists who have examined them. Single copies of any of IVISON & PHINNEY'S Text Books are furnished for examination at half price. Descriptive Catalogues of 100 Educational Works sent prepaid.
IVISON & PHINNEY, No. 321 Broadway.

TEMPLE MELODIES.—FIVE HUNDRED FAvorite hymns set to 200 well-known tunes, the words and music being on the same page. For prayer and conference meetings, family worship, and Congregational singing. Prices: 12mo edition, cloth binding, 62 cents; roan, 75 cents; octavo edition, (large type,) cloth, 87 cents; roan, $1. A liberal discount in quantities.
This work is believed to be peculiarly suited to the present season of awakened religious interest.
From the New-York Evangelist.
There is a kind of earnest revival air pervading the tunes and hymns that will strike a chord in many a Christian heart; and we think all will unite in awarding to it the praise of a comprehensive, sensible, practical, and useful book.
Published by MASON BROTHERS,
No. 108 & 110 Duane-st., New-York.

WINNER'S PIANO-FORTE PRIMER—The simplest and best book for the piano-forte ever published. It contains the words and music of all of the new songs of the day, such as "Gentle Annie," "Willie, we have missed you," &c. Price 50 cents. Sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of the marked price.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

In the Senate of the United States, yesterday morning, Mr. STUART, of Michigan, had the floor, and spoke at length on the Kansas question, taking the ground that the Lecompton Constitution was fraudulent. He expresses astonishment that the President should desire to bring Kansas into the Union, after saying in his message that she was in a state of rebellion. Mr. S. condemned in severe terms, the conduct of Gen. CALHOUN. After noticing at length, the legal points in Mr. PUGH's speech, he concluded by announcing his intention to vote against that gentleman's amendment. Mr. BAYARD, of Delaware, made a Lecompton speech, concluding with an elaborate defence of Slavery. He was followed by Mr. BRODERICK, of California. He denounced the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and vindicated labor from the aspersions of Mr. HAMMOND, and opposed the Lecompton Constitution because he believed the charges of fraud were fully proven. When Mr. B. concluded, the Senate took a recess till 7 P. M. Mr. DOUGLAS, though still quite unwell, spoke during the evening session to probably the most crowded auditory that ever assembled in the Senate chamber. It was impossible for the messenger from the telegraph office to gain access to the Reporter for the Associated Press, so dense was the crowd. Mr. DOUGLAS spoke for three hours, and was followed by Mr. TOOMBS, in an exceedingly bitter speech in reply. The vote will probably be taken to-day. In the House of Representatives the case of JOHN W. WOLCOTT, the imprisoned witness, was brought up by a resolution of Mr. STEPHENS, of Georgia, to discharge and turn him over to the Courts. An amendment by Mr. HUGHES, of Indiana, for WOLCOTT's unconditional discharge, was rejected—Yeas 22, Nays 161—and Mr. STEPHENS' resolution was adopted—Yeas 125, Nays 67. Mr. SEWARD, of Georgia, presented the majority report in the Matteson case, arguing against the jurisdiction of the House. Mr. CURTIS, of Iowa, submitted a minority report. The subject was postponed till Saturday next. Mr. GARNETT, of Virginia, made a Lecompton speech. It was intensely Southern and Pro-Slavery. Mr. BISHOP, of Connecticut, spoke in favor of admitting Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, and explained the position of the Northern Democracy. Mr. POTTLE, of New-York, spoke against Lecompton, and said that the Slavery struggle began with the Government and could not be ended by a dissolution of the Union. Speeches were also made by Messrs. MORRIS and KELLOGG, of Illinois, and ABBOTT, of Maine. The House did not adjourn until near 7 o'clock.

In the State Senate, yesterday, the bill providing for the building of a new City Hall in this City was ordered to a third reading. In the Assembly, notice was given of intention to introduce a bill making the Assistant Engineers of the Fire Department in this City Fire Wardens. The New-York contested seats case was made the special order for Wednesday of next week.

Dispatches from the Utah Expedition have been received by the War Department. The character of Colonel JOHNSTON's communications is understood to be such as to render it improper to publish them at present, though it is intimated that nothing of particular interest has transpired since last advices—the health of the officers and men being good.

The narrative of Captain DUNHAM, of the bark Adriatic, is published in the Savannah papers. The captain gives a moving account of his adventures in escaping from French custody and eluding the search of the cruisers. He alleges that the collision with the Lyonnais was no fault of his, but that it resulted from culpable mismanagement on the part of the officers of the steamer. In the excited state of the public feeling in France, he deemed it impossible to obtain justice if brought to trial in that country, and therefore resolved to make his escape as soon as possible, and place the whole matter in the hands of his own Government. He adopted stratagem to effect his purpose. Under the pretext that his vessel needed caulking, he engaged workmen ostensibly for that work, but during the noise and confusion incident to the operation, worked in the night upon his rigging, and when the ropes had been replaced, put quietly to sea, eluded the cruisers sent in search of him, and arrived safely at Savannah on the 18th inst. The United States storekeeper at Spezzia furnished him all the equipments needed for the voyage. The vessel put into Savannah in consequence of a lack of provisions, the voyage hither from Madeira having been long and boisterous.

At the meeting of the Councilmen, yesterday, a communication from Mr. STEPHEN H. BRANCH, denouncing legislative corruption at the State capitol, and praying that the "honorable body" will watch it closely, was presented and ordered to be filed. A communication from Major SPRAGUE, United States Army, urging the removal of the word "Buenavista" from Gen. WORTH's monument, on the ground that the General was not in the battle, was referred to the Committee on Arts and Sciences. The contract for the construction of the new reservoir was given to Messrs. FAIRCHILD & Co., upon an amendment of the report, affirming that they were the lowest bidders. The Committees of the Board of Councilmen on Railroads and that on Ferries sat yesterday and heard evidence and argument as to the supposed danger of steam on the Eleventh-avenue below Fifty-ninth-street, and as to the propriety of the establishment of a new ferry to Staten Island. They adjourned until next Monday, when the investigation will be resumed.

PATRICK MCLAUGHLIN, better known as "Paudeen," died yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, at the City Hospital, whither he was conveyed after he was shot by "Dad" CUNNINGHAM on Saturday morning. A post-mortem examination was made yesterday afternoon by Dr. DUBOIS. Coroner GAMBLE will hold an inquest on the body to-day.

JOHN KELLY, one of the parties who was stabbed on the morning preceding last St. Patrick's Day, in a fight at a low groggery corner of First-avenue and Thirteenth-street, died on Sunday night. An inquest was held on the body yesterday, and a verdict rendered charging PATRICK LAWLER with the homicide. LAWLER was committed to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The trial of Capt RIDER and Mr WOODS, the master and mate of the bark Escoriaza, in the United States Circuit Court, for cruel and unusual punishment, was concluded by a verdict of "Not guilty."

The General Markets, yesterday, opened with a moderate degree of animation for Breadstuffs, Cotton, and Provisions Prices did not vary much, save for Pork, which favored buyers. A good business was transacted in Rio Coffee and in Sugars at buoyant rates. Hides were more sought after. Rice and Tobacco were in demand and closed firmly. Somewhat livelier movements were reported in freights at uniform quotations.

The Balance of Power in America.

The long-vexed question of Kansas is now rapidly drawing to the issue of a Congressional decision. Many, indeed we think we may venture to say most, of our readers, will be so thoroughly delighted to believe that this is so, as to become quite indifferent to the particular form which the decision may take. The intrinsic importance of the Kansas question has quite disappeared, in the growing disgust with which the public regard the fashion of its handling, and the pertinacity with which it is forced upon their hearing. In this state of things there is nothing surprising. It is quite natural that public attention should have relaxed its hold upon a difficulty which has been so long debated and so much confounded with petty questions of a purely partisan or even personal importance, as almost to lose its grander aspects of national significance. It is impossible for any community long to maintain its interest in a political conflict which seems to be as vague and indeterminate as it is interminable, and which breeds more speeches than acts, more letters and reports than positive results of legislation. We are accustomed now to regard the events which preceded the American Revolution as of surpassing gravity; and the long struggle of Parliamentary and public discussion over the assumption of supreme authority in the Colonies by the Legislature of Great Britain appears to us now to have been, what indeed it was, one of the most interesting chapters in the annals of mankind. But the historian tells us that, in 1774, when from Massachusetts to Georgia the Colonies were arming for the conflict, which another Trojan war of useless and angry debate had rendered inevitable, the people of England, "wearied by the frequent discussions which had taken place on either side, betrayed an extreme repugnance to hear anything further on the subject. As the contest was already of ten years' date, and though often on the point of coming to a rupture had never issued in that fatal extremity, the prevailing opinion was that somehow or other, and sooner or later, a definitive arrangement would be effected." And thus it is, that exhausted with perpetual meetings, and with the ceaseless clamor of journalists and politicians, the public mind, at least of the Northern States, and of the greater cities, now finds the very name of Kansas insupportable, and relies with the vague confidence of ennui upon the "course of events," to achieve a "definitive arrangement," satisfactory to all parties. But the near prospect of a decisive action upon the matter in Congress should revive the flagging ardor of the general interest and awaken us all to see what the consequences, immediate or remote, of this last stupendous agitation are likely to be. For we have no right to indulge our own dislike of a tedious quarrel so far as to become indifferent to the indications of a movement which may involve the peace and welfare of the great nation to which we belong through an indefinite future of years. The Kansas troubles originated, as all the world knows, in the struggle for supremacy upon the plains of that territory of two antagonistic social systems, then first brought into absolute collision. The Northern settlers of Kansas wished to make a Free State where the Southern immigrants were resolved to found a State upholding Slavery. By whatever violence and fury the Southern views were propagated the steady influx of Northern life proved in the end too strong for them, and the extreme leaders of the Southern party themselves now own that the system of Free Labor has virtually triumphed in the colonization of that virgin soil. Having lost the substance of power in Kansas, the South contrived to keep the shadow, and by manœuvres, into the character of which we do not choose to-day to enter, achieved an apparent control over the organization of the new State. Then the ground of the struggle was shifted. "We have lost Kansas, as a matter of fact," said the South—"but we will test in the case of Kansas the possibility of establishing in these United States a true balance of power, which shall insure us the protection of our rights forevermore." Upon this question the battle now rages, and this question it is which is so shortly to be decided—a question of pure abstractions—a question of such statesmanship as has kept the nations of Europe embroiled for the last three centuries in a perpetual conflict for the maintenance of peace. Not what Kansas shall become, is now the question—but whether it is, indeed, necessary that guarantees foreign to the Constitution should be given to the Southern States of this Union, in order to avert just those collisions and hostilities which the Constitution was intended to make impossible. By her position on the Kansas issue, the South declares her profound distrust of the Northern States, and practically ignores the Union as a bond of justice and peace; demanding a sacrifice of plain, republican principle, in the settlement of a government over a free people, in order to establish thereby a precedent which may be hereafter used to ward off aggression upon future Slave States yet to be formed, and through them upon the Slave States which now make part of the Confederation. In the debates upon the adoption of our Constitution this state of things was vaguely foreseen, and the leading features of that great charter were expressly adapted to the prevention of just such disputes. The question of the "balance of power" was never to be raised upon this Continent. The firm guarantees of the Constitution were to obviate the necessity of recourse to those tricks and menaces of diplomacy by which in Europe the preponderance of one or another member of the great European family has been once and again averted. Have those guarantees of our Constitution been proved inadequate—have they been abandoned by any section of this country? Here is the vital question which every Northern man who votes for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution will virtually answer in the affirmative. Every man who concedes to the fears and passion of the South the occasion of outraging simple common sense and justice in Kansas, in order to reassure what the Constitution has already made doubly certain to the South as to the North, perfect safety in the enjoyment of all public rights—thereby declares that the Union has proved unequal to the great work which it was designed to do. Surely, then, it should not be necessary for us to impress upon our readers the real gravity of a position which involves an open proclamation to all the world that henceforth the Southern and the Northern sections of the Republic are to be regarded as rival forces, contending for supremacy under the fatal mask of an effort to preserve the "balance of power."

Our Policy in China.

Ever since the obstinacy and insolence of the Chinese authorities forced the questions at issue between them and the "foreign barbarians" to the solution of the sword, we have steadily advocated the propriety and necessity of such action on the part of our own representatives in China as should compel the Chinese to recognize the American flag as equally respectable and important with the ensigns of England, Russia and France. So long as peace continued to be maintained between the Celestial Empire and the Christian powers, all these powers occupied one common level of insignificance in the Chinese eyes; and the Mandarins, preserving a placid impartiality of contempt, were equally ready to strangle stray English travelers along the coast—to burn American chapels and to murder French missionaries. But the case is changed when hostilities have once been fairly begun in vindication of foreign rights, and to enforce the obligations of solemn treaties. The lesson of respect for the outside barbarians is not an easy or agreeable one to the Chinese scholars upon whom Lord ELGIN and Baron GROS are now urging it with so much earnestness. They will receive it at the mouth of the cannon of England and France, but they will not apply it to the benefit of States unrepresented in the ranks of their stern instructors. The Chinese know perfectly well that they have inflicted serious outrages upon the persons and the property of Americans,—outrages of which a partial account is given in the letter which we elsewhere publish of a Boston merchant long conversant with Chinese affairs,—and we may be very sure that they looked with some anxiety to see what flags they were that were planted upon the captured walls of Canton. The Stars and Stripes were not of the number—and whatever the issue may be of the armed negotiations now going on between the Allies in the South and the officer of the "Son of Heaven" in the North—or whatever share may be conceded to the United States in the results of the present demonstrations against the Mandarin policy,—we may be sure that the Chinese in the future will be what they have been in the past—and that they will try to revenge themselves hereafter upon the passive for the humiliation now received at the hands of the active among the Christian barbarians. The policy of Mr. Micawber has been deliberately adopted by our Government, and our Chinese commerce will one day be compelled to pay the cost of whatever good luck may chance just now to "turn up" for the Plenipotentiary expectant and patient Envoy of these United States.

Lotteries and Letters.

The Jesuitical doctrine that the good motive of an ill deed qualifies the wrong done into a positive merit, has never we believe been formally accepted as a principle of administration in this country. In fact, most of the ill deeds of our various rulers have been performed without even the pretext of a righteous intention. And we have been so frightfully used by the authorities of our own appointment that we have become absolutely grateful for any appearance of a desire on their part to do their duty by the public, and are singularly indisposed to look into the character and consequences of any act which seems likely to enure to the good of society. It is only in this way, at least, that we can account for the very amiable acquiescence of the public in certain recent proceedings of a public officer of this City, directly subversive of the most sacred rights of every private citizen among us. But a few days ago information was received in the proper quarter which led to the arrest of parties in this City engaged in the illegal traffic of lottery policies. This traffic, surreptitiously conducted, and by the least responsible of mankind, is undoubtedly a very great public nuisance and ought to be energetically abated. So thought our City Government, and in this thought went strenuously to work. The dealers designated to the police were arrested, their haunts were invaded, and the evidences of their offence were carefully seized and transferred into safe keeping. So far all that was done in this business was well done.

Terror and confusion were carried into the camp of that vast army of ruffians, swindlers, rascals and ragamuffins by which the purlieus of New-York have been so long triumphantly ravaged; and people began to congratulate themselves in the belief that at last the sceptre of the City would be felt and respected. But in the excess of a righteous zeal our authorities have suffered themselves to be carried beyond the limits of discreet justice. Twice within a single week they trespassed upon the inviolability of the mails, and did what only the most despotic rulers have ever safely ventured upon. They took out of the Post, and, without any particular process of law opened private letters sealed and stamped and addressed to individuals merely suspected of certain offences. These letters they afterwards handed for publication to the Press—going thus a step further in this dangerous tampering with one of the best recognized and most important immunities of free citizens than the Mayor of Charleston when he took "suspected" Abolition documents out of the Post-Office and burned them in the public streets, or than Sir JAMES GRAHAM in England, when he broke open, at the instigation of the Austrian Minister, certain letters addressed to MAZZINI, and was thereupon politically decapitated. Whatever may be pleaded in extenuation of this particular error of our rulers it is very important that it should not be suffered to grow into a precedent. As was very justly observed by our cotemporary of the Courrier des Etats Unis on Saturday, "To put the secrecy of mailed correspondence at the mercy of any man whatever, would be more dangerous than to leave open for rogues loopholes of escape from the law. Were it even to be always administered by an honest man, this right would, certainly, engender painful consequences sooner or later. And what would come of it were such a license to fall into the hands of a new Mayor WOOD; a contingency, be it noted, not absolutely out of the range of probabilities in these days? In France, even, where nothing is refused to the Courts which can minister to the ends of justice, no such power is granted to magistrates. There a letter can only be opened, even if addressed to a person actually on his trial, by the Judge on his bench, and in the presence of the person for whom it is intended." There was once in France a Cabinet Noir, in which the mails of Paris were systematically broken open for the amusement of LOUIS XV. and his friends; and, bad as matters are with us, they are not so bad that we need establish a Cabinet Noir for the better administration of the law.

PROPOSITION TO CHANGE THE ASSESSMENT LAWS.—The State Comptroller, the Hon. S. E. CHURCH, has transmitted to the Senate a Report, in which he recommends that the distinction made by the Revised Statutes between real estate and personal property, in respect to assessment for taxation, be abolished. That distinction consists in this: real property is required to be assessed at its full value, without deduction or diminution on account of encumbrances, or any debts owing by its owners; while, on the other hand, personal property is assessed at its value, after deducting the just debts owing by the owner.

The subject of Assessment is one of vital importance, and any change in the laws regulating it must affect the pecuniary interest of the entire community. We therefore copy the Comptroller's Report into to-day's TIMES.

The Comptroller's Report, together with an accompanying bill, was referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Senators STOW, SCHELL and WADSWORTH.

GENERAL CALHOUN.—We copy from the Albany Statesman a letter from ANDREW H. CALHOUN, Esq., explaining and defending the position of his brother, the President of the Lecompton Convention.

We give place to this defence in a spirit of fairness and justice; for the public should know what, if anything, can be said in favor of the conduct of General CALHOUN, who has managed to incur, in an unparalleled degree, the ill opinion of those who oppose the Lecompton fraud. And it is proper to say that Mr. A. H. CALHOUN, who naturally steps forward in behalf of his relative, is a gentleman of respectability who has held several important public trusts in this State, and a strenuous, life-long opponent of the Democratic Party.

MR. DOUGLAS IN THE SENATE CHAMBER.—During the delivery of Mr. STUART's Anti-Lecompton speech of yesterday, Mr. DOUGLAS, who, it is well known, has been confined to his home by illness for a week or more, made his appearance in the Senate Chamber, and was observed to be in close private conversation with Mr. GREEN, of Missouri. The galleries were crowded to an unusual degree. Much solicitude was manifested by the concourse to get sight of the Illinois Senator, whose appearance gave token of his recent indisposition. The heat and jam were very great, and the confusion was increased by the fainting of a lady.

PLANS FOR THE CENTRAL PARK.—The public had been led to expect that the processes of laying out the Central Park were so arranged that a drive of some kind would be opened within its inclosure the coming Summer. But there is very little prospect of such a boon being granted to the people even during the next two years. The truth of the matter is, that the Park is in the same condition as that proverbial broth which is always spoiled by having too many cooks to attend to it. It is two years since the first Board of Commissioners were appointed to improve the Park, and it cannot yet be said to be even in an inchoative condition. Though there has been a considerable number of stones broken on the ground, and some draining done, yet it is as far from being a park as it was in the days of HENDRIK HUDSON. And the reason is, that the gentlemen who have the work in charge, excellent and well intentioned as they unquestionably are, do not know what to do, nor where to begin. They have appointed a superintendent, an engineer, and an agriculturist; but, unless these officers are instructed what to do, they cannot do anything beyond setting men to work breaking stones and digging promiscuous ditches. The Commissioners have advertised for plans for laying out the Park, and the competitors are to hand them in next month. When they are handed in, then will come the grand struggle for a choice of plans, and, as each competitor will have his friends and agents wire-pulling for him, the prospect of any plan being chosen during the present year is not very flattering. But the Commissioners are not going wholly upon their own judgments, nor upon the suggestions of American artists. The public will learn, with no small astonishment, that the Commissioners have sent an invitation, accompanied with a thousand dollars, to Mr. KEMP of England, who laid out the little flat park opposite Liverpool in Birkenhead, to induce that landscape gardener to come out and give them the benefit of his opinions. In addition to the invitation to Mr. KEMP, a similar invitation and a similar sum has been sent to Paris, to induce some person connected with the improvements in the Bois de Boulogne, to come out here and give the aid of his suggestions. Now with some dozens of American competitors for plans, and the advice of an English landscape gardener, and a French engineer, we fear that there is small chance for the realization of that grand and simple ideal which the popular mind has so long fostered in connection with the Central Park.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Mme. LA GRANGE resumed her charming performance of the rôle of Valentine last night, and proved to a good house that she is the only interpreter of that character in New-York. The opera will be played but twice more.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.—The drama of "Jonathan Bradford" was revived here last night, for the purpose, we imagine, of giving Miss KEENE a little repose. Of its kind it is one of the best ever written by Mr. FITZBALL. The situations are good and horrible enough to suit the coarsest tastes. The play was well acted by the company; it has been placed on the stage in a handsome manner.

CHRISTY AND WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—There was one objection last season to the handsome theatre occupied by these famous delineators of Ethiopian peculiarities—the staircases were too narrow and crooked to admit of rapid egress. The proprietors have now remedied this defect, and have built a staircase down which thousands may pour with any desired rapidity. The improvement (not quite finished yet) is excellent, and renders the theatre one of the most convenient, as it is the handsomest, in the City The contemporaneous drama has reached Ethiopia. A novelty belonging to this school, and called "The Sleigh-Ride," was produced last night. The feature of the piece is a "Dioramic Panorama" of a sleigh-ride to JONES' on the Bloomingdale Road. A public sleigh, filled with a band of Ethiopian minstrels, faces the audience, and behind the panorama runs its course. By this arrangement a great deal of the hearty fun of a sleigh-ride is conveyed to the audience, and an illusive motion is kept up. The panorama is excellent, and its local truth was recognized by the audience, as each familiar corner came in sight. The introductory scene, "the meeting of the sleigh-riding party," needs shortening—very much shortening—indeed the shorter it is the better. In other respects the sketch is good. GEORGE HOLLAND and GEORGE CHRISTY sustain the principal characters—the first-named gentleman retaining his jacket and buttons as of old. The house was well attended.

NIBLO'S SALOON.—This popular establishment reopens its doors to-night. The "wonderful RAVELS" will play their farewell engagement during the next few weeks.

The Great Awakening.

Burton's old Theatre was again completely filled yesterday. In the lower boxes were a great number of ladies. On the platform were about twenty gentlemen, most of them ministers of various denominations,—among them the Rev. Dr. THOMPSON, who presided, the Rev. H. W. BEECHER, the Rev. Mr. WHITEHEAD, the Rev. Mr. COVILLE, the Rev. Messrs. WARD and WOLFE, of the New-Jersey Conference, the Rev. H. C. FISH, of Newark, and others. The singing was led by Mr. GIBBS. The effect produced by so many hundred earnest voices was very fine. A stranger prayed for those who had entered only from motives of curiosity. The Rev. H. C. FISH (Newark, N. J.) bore testimony to the conversion of at least 3,000 persons in and near that city. Mr. FISH introduced a friend of his, who had once before been in that Theatre, and only once. It was to witness the "Serious Family." Though at the time he had no serious convictions, he felt disgusted at the burlesque upon evangelical religion, and declared he would never come there again. Since that time God had visited his soul, and little did he imagine he should revisit the spot under circumstances so unexpectedly, so strangely different.

Some weeks since several of the up-town pastors agreed to hold union meetings, worshiping one week in each of their churches. The first was held at Dr. GILLETTE's church in Twenty-third-street; the second at Dr. PARKER's, Fourth-avenue; the third at Dr. MACAULEY's, Fifth-avenue; the fourth at the Rev. F. G. CLARKE's Twenty-third-street; the fifth at the Collegiate church, on Fifth-avenue and Twenty-ninth-street. During the present week the meetings will be held in Dr. ADAMS' church on Madison-avenue, from 4¼ to 5¼ every afternoon excepting Wednesday and Thursday, when there will be preaching at 4 P. M. These meetings have been well attended, the numbers increasing daily, so that though they were commenced in the lecture-rooms, it was soon necessary to open the churches.

Eighty-seven persons were received into the Methodist Church in Twenty-seventh-street, the Rev. THOS. G. OSBORN, Pastor, Sunday afternoon. There have been over 240 converts in the church during the last two months. There we 60 inquirers at the altar in the evening, and the church was so crowded that large numbers went away. The Rev. E. F. REMINGTON, Episcopal Minister, preached there Sunday evening. There have been 100 persons added to the Methodist Church in Second-street. About 70 to the Seventh-street Methodist Church, the Rev. C. FLETCHER, Pastor. From 100 to 150 have been converted in the Ninth-street Methodist Church, and about 120 in the Willet-street Church.

The Ninth Ward of the City has shared largely in the great Revival. Among the Churches most richly blessed are Dr. DOWLING's (Baptist) Church in Bedford-street, Dr. BURCHARD's (Presbyterian) Church in Thirteenth-street, and the Bedford street Methodist Church. Dr. DOWLING baptized thirty-three persons on the 14th inst., in the presence of an immense congregation, hundreds being compelled to go away for want of room. The Ninth Ward Union Prayer-Meeting for the different Evangelical Churches was held at Bedford street Methodist Church last week. This week it is to be held at Dr. DOWLING's Church, from 1 till 2 P. M. every day.

The proprietor of the American Museum desires to correct a report, to the effect that the offer of the Lecture-room to the Young Men's Christian Association, for noon prayer meetings, had been declined. He states that the proposition to use the room for such a purpose, came from a member of the Association, and not from him; that having a sincere desire to accommodate them he consented; and made the hours for presenting the play from 3 to 5 P. M., to prevent any interference of the two uses of the room, and that the Committee to whom the proposition was referred, have not yet reported.

The "Flying Artillery" were at the Seventeenth-street Church all day Sunday. There were some fifteen conversions there during the evening. The Rev. Mr. POISAL, of the Baltimore Conference, has been preaching in this Church during the past week, and will preach every evening this week.

Two new meetings were opened yesterday and will be kept open daily hereafter, one in Hope Chapel, Broadway, from 8 to 9 A. M., and one in the lecture room of the Seventh avenue Methodist Church, near Fourteenth-street, from 4 to 5 P. M.

The meetings at the John and Fulton street Churches were as largely attended as usual yesterday, and the exercises were conducted with great earnestness. At the John-street Church a large collection was taken up for the purpose of defraying the expenses of future meetings.

There were thirteen immersions in the Rev. Dr. ARMITAGE's (Baptist) Church in Norfolk-street, Sunday evening. Dr. ARMITAGE gives half-hour lectures every evening this week, on the seven sentences which the Saviour uttered upon the cross.

The Rev. Dr. PENNINGTON, City Missionary, suggested that a prayer-meeting should be opened down town for laboring colored men, as the existing meetings are so crowded. The only difficulty is to obtain a suitable place for holding it.

Twenty-five persons were immersed in the First Baptist Church in Nassau-street, Brooklyn, on Sunday evening.

The New-York City Temperance Alliance at a recent meeting had under discussion the following resolutions, and ordered them to be printed. They will be called up for further discussion at the next regular meeting on the first Wednesday evening of April:

Resolved, That to the growing separation of Christian and Citizen, Government and Religion, Pulpit and Politics, the New York City Temperance Alliance attributes the alarming fact that conscience has lost its power in State and national affairs, giving rise to practices that are corrupting the people and endangering the stability of our free institutions.

Resolved, That this Alliance, viewing the clerical profession as representing the highest standard of moral excellence, and in the kind Providence of God as still holding the most direct access to the consciences of the people, regard that profession responsible for the alarming declension in political virtue.

Resolved, That until there is an entire and radical change in the views and preaching of the clergy concerning the duties of the Christian and the citizen, causing the intelligent and the religious to be more, instead of less, active in political affairs than the ignorant and the vicious, there is no hope of the enactment and permanent enforcement of a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Resolved, That this Alliance, regarding Christianity universal in its claims and application, and thus designed to break down and remove all unrighteousness in the individual and the Government, will devote its leading efforts to awakening the consciences of the people, and more especially the clergy, to all action calculated to blot out the wrongs, disgrace and wickedness of the liquor traffic.

The Forged Letter Purporting to be Irving's.

NEW YORK, Saturday, March 20, 1858.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

GENTLEMEN: The story of the vexatious and annoying letter which Mr. JAMES A. MAITLAND has confessed to be an undoubted and entire forgery, has been aggravatingly mystified. Plain language, however disagreeable, seems to be necessary to stop at once a gross imposition on the public.

To reduce the whole matter to the simplest, briefest and most explicit form, permit me to say, by request and by positive authority, (for I have no selfish interest in the matter:)

1. That the letter advertised as written by Mr. IRVING to MAITLAND, dated Nov. 1, 1857, is a forgery from first to last, the original being found to be a clumsy imitation of Mr. IRVING's hand-writing.

2. That the second letter, dated Dec. 12—as copied in part by Mr. MAITLAND for his publishers—was altered and interpolated by said MAITLAND.

3 MAITLAND's admission that the first letter is a forgery, is hereto annexed. The partial forgery of the second is proved by the original itself, (a copy of which is annexed.)

4. That the only interview MAITLAND ever had with Mr. IRVING, was one of a few minutes in October last.

5. That the only letters ever written to MAITLAND by Mr. IRVING were, first: A short answer in July, 1857, to his earnest request to permit a dedication of a forthcoming book; and second: The letter of Dec. 12, written in answer to repeated requests for a notice of his own book.

6. That the original documents and facts all clearly prove that both Messrs. FETRIDGE & Co. and T. B. PETERSON, of Philadelphia, have been the victims of a gross fraud, of which they could have had no suspicion.

Respectfully yours,
G. P. PUTNAM.

Mr. PETERSON having this day read the above, has signed the following, and promised to withdraw the previous letters:

Since coming to New-York and examining the facts and documents, I am fully satisfied of the accuracy and propriety of the above statement by Mr. PUTNAM. Signed, T. B. PETERSON.
NEW-YORK, Saturday, March 20, 1858.

MR. MAITLAND'S CONFESSION.

GENTLEMEN: The letter dated Nov. 1, 1857, which appears in the circular of Messrs. PETERSON & Co., of Philadelphia, under the signature of WASHINGTON IRVING, purporting to be a commendation of the work entitled Sartaroe, written by me, was never written to me by Mr. IRVING, and has been published without his knowledge, approbation or consent.

JAS. A. MAITLAND.
NEW-YORK, Thursday, March 18, 1858.

Having read the above this day, (March 20,) Mr. MAITLAND has signed the following. The last paragraph being his own:

In addition to the above, I hereby state, in justice to the publishers as well as to Mr. IRVING, that they are not in the slightest degree responsible for the publication of the forged letter or the alterations made by me in the genuine notice of my book.

I also was egregiously deceived by some person or persons who wantonly and wickedly sent me a false letter. Signed, JAS. A. MAITLAND.

Death of Paudeen—Post-Mortem Examination—What Cunningham says.

PATRICK MCLAUGHLIN alias "Paudeen," who was mortally wounded early on Saturday morning, in a dance house in Howard-street, died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the City Hospital. He did not appear to be suffering greatly in his last moments. During the previous night he was, at times, delirious, and while in this state made use of expressions of shocking profanity and blasphemy. Opium was administered to him in small doses from time to time, and towards morning he became more quiet and regained his senses. The wound had been probed, but the bullet was not found until after his death. As soon as Paudeen's death was made known, his friends hurried to the Hospital to take a last look at the remains before they should be disfigured by the post-mortem examination. The corpse was laid out upon a dissecting table in the Dead-House attached to the Hospital. Here only the friends of the deceased, those of the officers of the Hospital and reporters were admitted. A great many applications for admission were made in vain by curious persons at the gate. Within the small apartment in the Dead-house, in which the remains were placed, covered by a sheet, the scene was a most impressive one. Many of Paudeen's associates—reckless, hardened men—as they lifted up the covering and gazed at the remains, appeared to be deeply affected, not with grief—few seemed to regret the death of the desperado—but with an appalling sense of the suddenness with which their comrade in vice had been summoned into the next world. Others stood apparently unawed in the presence of the dead, and made careless remarks about the deceased, his manner of life, and the circumstances attending his death.

Soon after Paudeen had breathed his last, official notice of his death was sent to the Coroner's office. Here it was arranged that Coroner GAMBLE should hold the inquest. The Coroner went to the Hospital to make his preparations. About twenty citizens were summoned to appear for jury duty, and the case was adjourned to 10 o'clock this morning.

THE POST-MORTEM EXAMINATION.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Dr. DUBOIS commenced the post-mortem examination of Paudeen. About a score of medical students and others were permitted to be present. Considerable difficulty was experienced in finding the ball. After more than an hour's search it was discovered that it was lodged under the left shoulder-blade. The following is Dr. DUBOIS' description of the wound:

The external wound was over the middle of the sternum, at the junction of middle and upper portions; a probe was passed towards the left, and a little upwards, about two inches and there was arrested. On opening the chest, the left pleural cavity was found completely filled with fluid and coagulated blood, and the lung closely compressed against the spine. It did not crepitate on pressure, and was solid, showing that all the air had been pressed out of it.

The ball entered the chest at the junction of the second costal cartilage on the left side with the sternum, breaking off the upper border of the cartilage. It had passed entirely through the left lung, entering at the apex, and making its exit at the lower border of the upper lobe. It then passed through the fifth rib, near its angle, breaking it almost entirely across, and had finally lodged in the scapula, near its inferior or axillary border, splitting the bone extensively. From this spot it was extracted with some difficulty, and found to be jagged and split almost across by the bone. The exhaustion consequent upon the hemorrhage from the intercostal artery and the vessels of the lung, was the cause of his death.

His heart was unusually large and firm, and pretty healthy, though some fatty degeneration was apparent. All the other organs which were examined were healthy. He was a muscular, well-developed man, with but little fat upon him.

When received into the Hospital, he said his age was 27 years; that he was born in the Fourth Ward of this City, and was a stone-cutter by trade. His body was delivered to his friends. The day for the funeral is not yet fixed.

WHAT CUNNINGHAM SAYS.

The news of Paudeen's death was communicated to "Dad" CUNNINGHAM, who shot him, about noon yesterday. CUNNINGHAM remarked that Paudeen held out longer than he thought he would, and altogether manifested the most profound indifference regarding his death. One thing, he said, was very certain, that his conscience would never trouble him for having committed the homicide. He warned Paudeen more than a dozen times, he said, not to meddle with him, telling him that, if he did, he would repent it. He never saw Paudeen so enraged in his life, and he felt perfectly sure in his own mind that, if Paudeen had succeeded in pulling him over the counter, he would have knifed him at once, or would have otherwise made way with him without compunction or mercy. Believing his life in imminent peril, he shot Paudeen, and in doing so felt entirely justified, and considered that he had not only saved his own life, but had rid the world of the most malignant and black-hearted wretch that was ever permitted to live. He entertained no especial hostile feeling toward Paudeen otherwise than a natural and instinctive dislike for a man who would not hesitate to take the meanest advantage of an opponent. At "Butt" ALLEN's dance-house, on the morning of the difficulty between Paudeen and himself, there were only two friends of his present, while all the rest were friends of Paudeen. Personally, he had no objection to take his share in an open, fair fight, but where the odds were so greatly against him as on the occasion referred to, it would have been suicidal to have attempted to battle against the superior number and muscle of his opponents. When he objected to Paudeen's denouncing MORRISSEY, in the latter's absence, Paudeen seized hold of him, and his two friends then attempted to come to his rescue, but were prevented by some of Paudeen's friends. In any view of the case that might be taken, he felt satisfied with his own course, and thought he never should eat less or sleep less for having used his pistol against Paudeen, and having been the instrument of shortening his days. He has carried a pistol over seven years. He has done this, he says, to protect himself against any party his superior in physical strength who might attack him. He never used the pistol until he shot Paudeen.

A large number of CUNNINGHAM's friends called on him yesterday. They all told him that they hoped he would not allow himself to be disturbed on account of the death of Paudeen. His invariable response was that it had not given him the slightest uneasiness, and he did not intend it should. He had no fears for the final result to himself. One fact he believed, however, would go greatly against him at the Coroner's inquest: Paudeen had a dozen friends present at the shooting to his two, and he was afraid these might testify in opposition to the statements of his two friends, and try to make it out that no necessity existed for his using his pistol at the time he did.

Among the visitors who have gone most frequently to CUNNINGHAM's cell, and remained there longest, are his mother and two sisters. Hardening and searing as has been his course of life and the effect of his associations, his heart has more than once melted in their tender and sympathizing presence. He says he regrets what has occurred more on their account than his own. He expresses a hope above everything that whatever may be his fate he may be spared a lengthy imprisonment. The brief confinement he has already undergone he says has affected him sensibly. He has only been able to eat a little toast and tea. In his present state of health he says he would not live a month if not allowed a daily walk in the open air, or some invigorating exercise. He complains of the dyspepsia.

MORRISSEY, who is now living in Troy, and is proprietor of a drinking saloon there called the "Ivy Green," has sent CUNNINGHAM word that he will come to New-York to-day to see him.

Communication from the Comptroller in Relation to Assessments of Real and Personal Property.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, STATE OF NEW-YORK,
ALBANY, March 20, 1858.

To the Honorable the Senate:

In compliance with a resolution of the Senate, requesting my opinion whether any change in the Assessment laws would tend to equalize the taxation of real and personal property, and to suggest any amendment by bill, or otherwise, which I might deem expedient, I have the honor to report: That I regard the distinction recognized by the Assessment laws now in force between real and personal property without foundation in principle, and unjust to the citizens of the State. The statute requires real property to be assessed at its value without deduction or diminution, whilst personal property is to be assessed at its value, after deducting the just debts owing by the owner of the property. I am unable to see any reason for this discrimination in favor of personal property. The expenses of government incurred in protecting it are vastly more than real property; a large portion of crimes are committed against it, and no inconsiderable share of taxes annually levied and paid by the people is made necessary to afford protection to it and secure the rights of those who own and traffic in it; and yet, by a policy which has heretofore prevailed, far the greater portion has entirely escaped taxation. It seems to me that the just and only equal mode of taxation is to assess property wherever it is found, without regard to circumstances or the liabilities of the owner. Those who purchase or hold property should receive it subject to the right of the State to impose such burdens as are deemed necessary by the Legislature to secure the due and proper administration of the Government; but the imposition should be general, reasonable and equal—not partial or oppressive.

Why should the farmer who owns a farm worth $10,000, upon which he owes $5,000, be assessed the full value of his property, whilst the merchant, similarly situated, with a stock of goods worth $10,000, be assessed only one-half the value of his property? Or why should the broker escape taxation upon his notes and mortgages, whilst the unfortunate owner of a house and lot be entitled to no such exemption? As Government protects all the property of the citizen, so in return it should exact an equal contribution from all, and especially should it not exempt that species of property requiring the greatest amount of expense to protect it. It is sometimes urged that by the proposed change property will be doubly assessed; first in the hands of the owner, and again in the hands of the creditor. If this position is true, it is equally applicable to real property now. The owner is assessed for its full value, and the holder of an incumbrance is also assessed for its amount, so that if it is proper to make a deduction in the one case, it is clearly so in the other.

But I do not think the position can be maintained, that the same property will be doubly assessed in any lawful view of the subject. The debts which a man owes are property in the hands of the holder as much as any other. Promises to pay are regarded by our laws as property; they are protected as such, bought and sold, and transmitted as such. Government has authorized the creation of this kind of property, and has furnished the most ample facilities for increasing, regulating and protecting it. It has even gone so far as to make these promises the basis of an extensive banking system, which its advocates insist is the safest in the world. How can it be said, then, that they are not property for the purpose of taxation, when they are such for every other purpose? Are the State promises deposited in the Banking Department a part of the Canals because they were issued to borrow money for their construction? Is it true that a mortgage upon a farm is the farm itself or any portion of it, or are the liabilities of the merchant a portion of his stock of goods? In no legal sense can this be claimed. The State stocks, mortgage, notes and other choses in action are created and made property by and in pursuance of the laws of the State, and as such are liable to taxation. If new promises are based upon those already existing and multiplied to any extent, they are all lawfully authorized property. The objection, if any exists, is against the laws investing them with the attributes of property, but those who create and use them are estopped from denying their lawful character. They have no right to avail themselves of the authority of government, so far as they are benefited by it, and then attempt to escape the burdens which necessarily result from their own acts; or, in other words, a man has no right to issue his notes for a thousand dollars and use and dispose of them as property in pursuance of the laws of the State, and then deny that they are property, and insist that they should be deducted from his other estate, when it becomes necessary thus to recognise them for purposes of taxation. Indeed I do not think there is any phase or form of the credit system which entitles it to the special bounty of the State.

Not only are many of the frauds, forgeries, larcenies and other rascalities which prevail in the land, chargeable to it, but the pecuniary revulsions and consequent bankruptcies and public and private distresses are its legitimate fruits. The system may be, and probably is, a necessary evil; but it is in the highest degree unjust that its votaries should be exempted from the burdens which all should bear alike. It is a notorious fact that practically a large portion of the personal property of the State escapes taxation. The devices and fraudulent practices of those owning personal property to escape taxation are so generally resorted to that it has become almost impossible to procure the assessment of such property as the present statute makes liable. It is believed, however, that the removal of the inequality now existing will enable public officers intrusted with this duty to remedy the difficulty, and that a very large amount will be added to the aggregate valuation in the State.

Taxation bears too heavily upon the agricultural interests and upon real property, and I am of the opinion that this injustice should no longer be tolerated.

It is also suggested that a more thorough assessment of personal property will be secured by requiring assessors to separate goods and chattels from choses in action, and to make a separate valuation of each.

I submit herewith a draft of a bill, which, if adopted by the Legislature, will, in my judgment, remedy in a great degree the defects above referred to. Respectfully submitted,

S. E. CHURCH, Comptroller.

An act to amend the Revised Statutes in relation to the manner in which assessments are to be made, and the duty of the Assessors.

The People of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section nine, article two, title two of chapter thirteen of the first part of the Revised Statutes is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 9. They shall prepare an assessment roll in which they shall set down in five separate columns, and, according to the best information in their power:

1. In the first column the names of all the taxable inhabitants in the town or ward, as the case may be.
2. In the second column the quantity of land to be taxed to each person.
3. In the third column the full value of such land, according to the definition of the term land as given in the first title of this chapter.
4. In the fourth column the full value of all the taxable household furniture, goods and chattels, owned or possessed by such person, excepting only such property as is by law exempt from levy and sale on execution.
5. In the fifth colum the full value of all the taxable stocks in moneyed corporations and public stocks, debts due from solvent debtors, whether on account, contract, note, bond or mortgage, and moneys.

Defence of General John Calhoun, of Kansas, by his Brother, A. H. Calhoun, of New-York.

From the Albany Statesman of Saturday.

MR. EDITOR: In your paper of yesterday, speaking of Kansas matter, you say:

"The other outrage—the retention of the returns by CALHOUN—is quite as flagrant and dangerous an outrage. An election has been held, the returns of which have long since been officially made; and one man by virtue of his office as President of a Convention, withholds them from the public, and waits the course of events before he decides to which set of candidates he will award the victory."

Allow me to say that, in making this statement, you commit a grave error. According to the returns made to Mr. CALHOUN, the Democratic Party has a majority of 379, which, if correct, would give that party a majority on joint ballot in the Legislature. But there is good reason to believe that these returns are fraudulent, and, consequently, Mr. CALHOUN has not declared the result. He has, however, taken measures to procure the correct returns, and in a statement published over his own signature, he says:

"I have written to Gov. DENVER to procure the sworn statements of the judge of this controverted precinct, and to have them taken under such circumstances as will secure a free and unbiased exhibition of the facts. By the sworn statement so procured, I SHALL BE GOVERNED in giving the certificates of election to the members of the Legislature from Leavenworth County."

Up to the 7th of this month, to my knowledge, Mr. CALHOUN had not received this statement; but Washington dates of the 17th inst., as published in the New-York papers of Thursday, say that "information from Kansas removes all doubt as to the election of the Free-State ticket, and therefore, Mr. CALHOUN has declared his intention to give certificates accordingly." That he will do so there can be no doubt. Had he been so desirous to place the power in the hands of his own party, regardless of right, as you seem to infer, he would have given the certificates on the returns in his possession, which would have warranted him in so doing, as they bore intrinsic evidence of their truth. But he chose to wait; and by his delay, if the last advices are correct, justice has been done.

Is it quite fair Mr. Editor, to insinuate that "if Mr CALHOUN is really driven by the force of popular sentiment to give the certificates to the officers legally chosen by the people, the fact will be undeniable that he lacked only the courage, and not the will, to carry out the intended fraud in full." On what authority do you say this? Do you know Mr. CALHOUN, or are you familiar with his antecedents? Rather do you not form your opinion on ex parte statements? If you have seen any other you are more fortunate than I am; for all the charges made against him, so far as I have been able to ascertain, emanate from Kansas-shrieking organs.

I can speak of Mr. CALHOUN from a full knowledge of the man; and I assure you, Mr. Editor, that he not only possesses the "courage," but the "WILL" to do right. He cannot be swerved from his duty by any appliance whatever; and whether his final action shall be in accordance with his own wishes or not, he will be guided by the evidence before him, and will decide the matters submitted to him without fear, favor or affection—and RIGHT.

A. H. C.

ALBANY, March 20, 1858.

Sea and Ship News.

The United States mail steamer Star of the West Captain Gray, left on Saturday, at the usual hour, for Aspinwall, with the California mails and a large number of passengers. Col. FREMONT and family and one or two business associates were among the number. A splendid specimen of an English draught horse, whose owner has been waiting some time to ship, was sent out, the object being to improve the breed of California horses. The animal was imported from England at a heavy cost. The low fares by the previous steamers brought many persons of small means to the City who wished to embark for California, but who were not able to procure tickets at the ordinary rates, as there was no opposition, and consequently but a slight variation from the regular fare. Persons who had foolishly sacrificed all they had to raise the means to get to California, found themselves short on reaching the city. Some cases of peculiar hardship the agent took pity on, and sent them forward. Much suffering is caused by representations through the press that extremely low fares to California prevail, as it brings a crowd of inconsiderate persons from their homes, only to be subjected to disappointment, and the expense of a journey to New-York for no purpose, except to fall into the hands of ticket swindlers, pickpockets and confidence men, who strip them of their last dollar. Fifty persons, at least, were disappointed, in this way last week, many of whom still remain in the City, unable to reach their homes. A young married man from Newark, who had been on a spree, and by a youthful indiscretion had incurred the displeasure of his wife, attempted to run away from his accusing conscience and his upbraiding spouse at the same time; but his better half, hearing of his intention, overtook him just as he was going on board. She caught him by the knees, and falling upon her own, in the midst of the surging mass of passengers and spectators on the dock, implored him in an agony of grief not to leave her. She wept piteously, and the young scamp looked ashamed, and tried to break away; but she held him with a firm grasp. The pair were finally placed in the little office, the door shut, and the domestic scene concluded. By the aid of some friends, who held the door, she at last overcame his resolution—he ordered his trunk ashore, and agreed to go home. A person, who had several ladies in his charge, had his wallet stolen from the pocket of his pants on board the steamer, with about $200 and all his tickets. The case being one of great hardship, Mr. WICKHAM gave him duplicate tickets and sent him on his way rejoicing.

The following cases of fraud in tickets by this steamer, came to the notice of officers HOUSTON, WASH and STEVENSON.

JOHN POOR and EDWARD CARTER, from Iowa, were cheated out of $50 by STEVE. GORDON. The money was refunded.

A gentleman was cheated out of $20, at No. 109 West-street, but he recovered the money by aid of the officers.

HENRY BROWNER and P. R. REED, from Peru, Ia., were carried to FOWLER's office by a Runner, where they parted with $350. The officers obtained the money, and conducted the parties to the genuine office, where they procured tickets. On the same day the same house refunded $175 to Mr. BROWNELL, of Vermont.

GEORGE ALLEN, of Massachusetts, was cheated at BRADY's office, corner of Liberty and Greenwich streets, out of $24 on tickets to Cleveland. It was refunded.

Miss TAYLOR, from the country, was cheated out of $25 by FOWLER, who returned the money to the officer.

DAVID JOHNSON and CHARLES DAYTON, two notorious confidence men, were arrested by Officers HOUSTON and GOUGE, and carried to the Police Headquarters, where they were compelled to sit for their daguerreotypes to ornament the Thieves' Gallery.

The British steamship Kangaroo, Capt. JEFFREY, sailed Saturday at noon for Liverpool.

The Late Stabbing Affray in First-avenue.

JOSEPH KELLY, one of the men stabbed on the morning of the 16th inst., in the liquor saloon of MICHAEL BRYNE, No. 169 First-avenue, died Sunday night. Coroner CONNERY held an inquest, yesterday, at which some new facts were elicited. It was shown that PATRICK LAWLOR, with one or two other friends, went into the bar-room to get into a fight with the deceased and others, and that LAWLOR stabbed the deceased in the abdomen. Several of LAWLOR's friends testified that the stabbing was done in self-defence. The Jury rendered the following:

VERDICT.

That JOSEPH KELLY came to his death by wounds received in the abdomen, which superinduced inflamation of so serious a character as to cause his death, and these wounds were inflicted by a knife in the hands of PATRICK LAWLOR, on the 16th of March, 1858.

On the rendition of the verdict, LAWLOR was examined. He stated that he was 21 years of age, a native of Ireland, a carpenter, and resides at No. 137 East Eleventh-street. Relative to the charge preferred against him, he said, "I inflicted the wounds in self-defence; I was attacked by some of these men and had no means of escape." He was locked up to await the action of the Grand Jury.

MR. AHRENFELDT'S CERTIFICATE.

MESSRS. S. C. HERRING & Co.—Gentlemen: On the night of the 17th inst, my store, No. 56 Maiden-lane, with my stock of merchandise, was entirely destroyed by fire. My loss, though heavy, would have been much more so, but that I was fortunate enough to have one of your Patent Champion Safes, which preserved uninjured my most valuable books, papers, and some bank notes, after being eighteen hours exposed to a very severe and scorching flame. My old papers, &c., which I could not find room in the safe for, were intrusted to a vault in the wall—they are a mass of ashes.

Respectfully yours,
CHARLES AHRENFELDT.

NEW-YORK, Feb. 18, 1858.

The above Safe can be seen at our dépôt.

THE FIRST OF MAY!
The first of May approaches,
When bugs, fleas and roaches
Their noxious columns muster;
The rat, too, then encroaches,
The mouse, sly plunderer, poaches,
Putting ladies in a fluster;
But thy magic powder, Lyon,
Is the food that insects die on.
Mice and rats, too,
By thy pills, which we rely on,
Are killed to the last scion,
Without cats, too!

FARMS FOR SALE.

TO FARMERS, GARDENERS, &c.—FOR SALE—The beautiful and well-known Dairy Farm on Long Island of the late David S. Mills, situated on the Williamsburg and Jamaica Turnpike Road 3 miles from Williamsburg and containing 60 acres. This farm is most beautifully located, surrounded by roads, and the turnpike running through the centre of it giving a very extensive front for improvements. It is in fine condition, having been used as a dairy farm for 20 years. There are extensive improvements on the premises, consisting of a large double mansion house, a stone stable 150 feet long 40 feet wide 2½ stories high, with walls two feet thick, and well suited for factory purposes, together with barns, ice-house, blacksmith and wheelwright shops, carriage house, vegetable vault which will hold 2,000 bushels, built of stone and on a side hill, and a cow and hay barn about 200 feet long. The farm is capable of producing as much as any farm of its size on the Island, for which a premium was awarded by the American Institute as the best farm on Long Island. It is surrounded and divided up by double-faced stone walls. There is a great amount of the choicest kinds of fruit on the premises. The farm will be sold either in parcels to suit purchasers, or in one plot at private sale. If not sold by the 10th day of April it will on that day be sold at public auction, at 1 o'clock P. M., at the Brick Tavern, at Middle Village, adjoining the premises. Stages run to and from the property every hour daily from the Grand and Houston st. ferries. Applications can be made to S. S. MILLS, at the Chatham Bank, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M., or to C. R. MILLER, No. 14 Pine-st.

FARM FOR SALE.—A FARM OF FIFTY ACRES in Bergen County, opposite the village of Belleville, adjoining the Jersey City Water Works the Passaic River, and the turnpike leading to New-York eight miles from the City, with two new dwellings, kitchens, two good wells of water; large barn, wagon house, corn crib, &c.; young apple orchard, good garden, currants, raspberry, cherry trees, plum trees, grapes, &c.; all in good order; water may be conveyed over any part of the farm, and above the top of any building from the water works. Will be sold on easy terms, as the owner is not able to take care of it any more. If not sold by the 1st of April it will then be to let to a small private family doing business in a city. For particulars, inquire of JAMES D. ACKERMAN, corner of 2d st. and Bowery; of SMITH D. BELLOWS, No. 48 Marion-st., or of PETER I. ACKERMAN, No. 49 Bleecker-st., Newark, N. J.

FOR SALE.—THE SUBSCRIBER WILL SELL at private sale his farm on the White Stone road, about half a mile from the White Stone steamboat landing, and about two miles from the village of Flushing. The farm and garden are in a high state of cultivation; on said farm is an excellent apple orchard of the best kind of fruit; there are also pear, peach, and quince trees in bearing order. Also, in said garden an abundance of currants, gooseberries, and strawberry bed, all in a high state of cultivation. Said farm consists of about 26 acres of land, a comfortable dwelling house and barn, and necessary out-buildings thereon. For particulars, inquire on the premises, of MICHAEL HIGGINS.

FARMS FOR SALE—IN AND NEAR MADISON, Morris County, New-Jersey, several good farms from 40 to 130 acres each. These farms are worthy of notice to any one who is desirous to purchase farms as they are in a fine healthy section of the country, along the line of the Morris and Essex Railroad, fine locations and well stocked with fruit. The 40 acres is a beautiful farm, good buildings, abounds in fruit of every description, fine garden, ice house filled with ice, large lawn of shade around the house and within 10 minutes' walk of the depot. COUNTRY RESIDENCES

COUNTRY SEAT TO LET

FOR TWO YEARS—(during the owner's absence in Europe)—A LARGE AND NEW HOUSE IN THE VILLAGE OF FLUSHING, WITH ALL THE FURNITURE.

It is nearly fifty feet square and three stories high, with a wide piazza on each side and a kitchen in the rear.

A continual supply of spring water is furnished by a ram and windmill, and gas is supplied through the house from the village works.

Having been built with great care for the owner's occupancy, it is replete with every convenience. It is surrounded by a lawn of eleven acres covered with a fine turf and planted with many varieties of ornamental trees—some of them fifty years old. The lawn is so prepared that one horse and a rolling-mower can keep it always like a carpet.

The carriage-house, stable, ice-house, kitchen, garden and parterre are ample for their respective purposes. Apples, pears, cherries, mulberries, quinces and the small fruits are on the grounds in great abundance.

A school-room, furnished with the most modern desks, maps, books, &c., is upon the premises. To those who do not wish private tuition the excellent schools in the village can be recommended. The location is healthy, high and airy—commanding a view of Flushing Bay, Long Island Sound and the Palisades.

It is within ten minutes' walk of the Railroad, by which there is access to the City six times a day by fifty minutes transit from Fulton Market.

ALSO, FOR SALE OR TO LET

Near the above, a house in the Italian style, containing twelve rooms beside a kitchen above ground.

It is furnished with water fixtures, furnace and all the conveniences of a first class house. It is surrounded by sufficient land, covered with turf, trees and small fruit.

Apply to S. B. PARSONS, Flushing,
Or at No. 34 Wall st., New York.

SING SING PROPERTY FOR SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION—TUESDAY, March 23, 1858. The very desirable residence, lately owned and occupied by Gen. Munson I. Lockwood, located on the corner of Croton av. and Elizabeth st., in the village of Sing Sing, N. Y. The dwelling is built of brick with tin roof, having a front of 28 feet, and about 42 feet in depth, 2 stories and attic, high basement, plastered and finished throughout; 12 rooms, well arranged with pantries, closets, &c.; ceilings high, spacious halls, marble mantels, &c. The premises comprise several lots of ground (or about 1½ acres of land,) on which are a barn, shed, &c. and well stocked with fruit and shade trees. The front on Croton-av., some 200 feet, is protected by a handsome white cut marble wall. The dwelling elevated on a rising bluff, commands a most beautiful view of the Hudson River, overlooking the village and Croton Point. The view on the north about 14 miles, and the south about 7 miles, taking in Tappan bay, &c. Within a few minutes' walk of the churches, schools, Post-Office and railroad depot, the place is all that could be desired for a country residence.

The above property will be offered at Public Auction on TUESDAY, March 23, 1858, at 2 o'clock P. M., on the premises. Possession given April 1. A large portion of the purchase money can remain on the premises.

Persons desirous of viewing the property at any time, will be shown the same upon application to JAMES T. COLLYER, Esq., near the premises. For any information relative to the disposal of the property at private sale, apply to JOHN LLOYD & SON, No. 15 Nassau-st., Commonwealth Bank Building, or to JAMES E. EXPRESSES.

WELLS, FARGO & CO.,
NEW-YORK AND CALIFORNIA EXPRESS AND EXCHANGE COMPANY,
No. 82 Broadway, New-York.

We, the undersigned, are prepared to transport to California the old State Bonds, exchange the same and return here with greatest possible dispatch.

We will undertake, for a fixed price, to transport, exchange and return said bonds, agreeing in case of loss to be at trouble of procuring new issue—or parties can mail to our house in Sacramento at their own risk, have the same exchanged and returned in same way. For rates, inquire at our office.

Having our own houses at San Francisco, and also at Sacramento, and sending Special Messengers by every steamer, we are prepared to do this business with greater safety and promptness than other houses. The Bonds do not leave our hands until returned to New-York.

The past-due coupons are purchased at current rates.

The act authorizing the exchange, a copy of which will be furnished on application at our office, provides for the funding of the past-due coupons when presented in sums of $500.

We will sell sums under $500, remit proceeds, less exchange, or buy to fill fractions, and receive pay here without commission. WELLS, FARGO & CO.,

PUBLIC NOTICES.

NEW-YORK STATE CANALS—NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.—REPAIRS OF CHAMPLAIN CANAL.—In pursuance of Act, Chapter 105, Laws of 1857, and of a Resolution of the Contracting Board, notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, at the Canal Commissioners' Office, in the city of Albany, until Tuesday, the 13th day of April next, at 10 o'clock A. M., for furnishing all the materials and performing all the work necessary or that may be required, to keep in good repair, and in good navigable condition, during such time in each year as the Canal Commissioners, or Commissioner in charge shall direct, for a period of five years from the 10th day of May next.

SECTION NO. 1 CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

Penalty in Bond.........$7,000

Together with all and each of the Side Cuts, Structures, Feeders and Reservoirs connected therewith.

Every proposal shall be accompanied by an affidavit indorsed thereon of each person uniting in such proposal, that he is not directly or indirectly interested in any other proposal for the same work or materials, or any part of the same; that he has no agreement or understanding with any other person to become interested in any other proposal or contract for the same work or materials, or any part thereof; and that no other person than such as shall be named in the proposal is interested in the same, or has any agreement or understanding to become interested in any contract that may be made in pursuance of such proposal.

Every proposal for the above-mentioned work or materials must be accompanied with a bond to the people of this State, in the penalty specified above, and which bond shall be signed by the party making such proposal, and two or more responsible sureties, with such evidence of their responsibility as the Contracting Board shall require, and which sureties shall justify in sums equal in the aggregate to twice the amount of such penalty.

Each proposal must be accompanied by the certificate of the Supervisor of the town, and the County Clerk or the County Judge of the County in which said surety shall reside, or any two of them, as to the responsibility of said sureties.

The persons to whom the work may be awarded will be required by the contracting Board to give the bond for the payment of laborers' wages, as required by chapter 278, of the laws of 1850.

No acceptance of a proposal or award of a contract by the contracting Board, and no contract made by them, or any interest in the same, shall be assignable to any person or persons, without the written consent of the Canal Commissioners.

The Commissioners will reserve fifteen per cent. of the amount of each relative monthly estimate of work done and material delivered as a security to the State for the performance of the contract, and at the expiration of the third month of each year the fifteen per cent. thus retained during the previous year shall be paid to the contractor, providing the provisions of the contract shall have been fully complied with.

In case the contracting Board shall be of opinion that the proposals made at any meeting thereof, pursuant to any advertisement, are, in consequence of any combination or otherwise, excessive and disadvantageous to the State, they may decline all or any of the said proposals, and advertise anew for the work and materials embraced therein.

The person or persons to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to receive the boats, tools, and other implements specified in the following schedule and allow therefor the respective prices therein stated, viz.:

MEDICAL.

THE TALENT OF THE MOST EMINENT EUROPEAN ARTISTS
Is employed in illustrating the new edition of that practical Medical Work,
HUMAN FRAILTY;
OR, PHYSIOLOGICAL RESEARCHES,
JUST ISSUED FROM THE PRESS.

It describes the causes and effects of all diseases of a delicate nature; it contains copious instructions for the perfect restoration of those who are prevented by impediments from entering into the married state, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from imprudences, with observations on the direful results of early abuse; also a professional dissertation, illustrating the results of chemical tests, and examination of the spermatoza by the patentee's newly-constructed microscope, with powerful lenses.

Price 25 cents. Sent free of postage to any part of the country.

This invaluable work may be obtained, as well as the Triesemar, from Dr BARROW, No 157 Prince-st., few blocks west of Broadway, New-York. To be consulted as usual, from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 till 8 in the evening.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

This pleasant, simple, and most efficacious vegetable remedy, for purifying the blood, and the cure of scrofulous and cutaneous diseases, may be taken at this season with the greatest benefit by every one. The only caution necessary to be used is to obtain the original and genuine article. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, No. 100 Fulton-st., New-York.

DR. MAGNIN'S LUCINA CORDIAL, OR ELIXIR OF LOVE.—From the earliest ages stimulants have been resorted to as a means of reviving the energies of Nature. Of this fact both sacred and profane history assure us. But the great difficulty has been to find an exhilarant which would produce the desired effect continuously, and entail no subsequent depression. This grand desideratum, sought for by every physician from the time of Galen to the present day, is accomplished at last! The LUCINA CORDIAL restores and permanently invigorates the broken-down system; nay, more, it replaces natural weakness with energy and strength. The desponding it revives the feeble it endows with vigor; and the cheerfulness and strength which it restores or creates, it also preserves. To the sickly wife it imparts that degree of vital force necessary to the crowning joy and great object of matrimony. To the debilitated husband it gives the nervous and muscular energy which characterizes manhood. In all cases of nervous diseases, low spirits, indigestion, liver complaint, indisposition to mental exertion, lassitude, emaciation, impotence, &c.—in fact, in all complaints, acute and chronic, which depress and weigh down the mind and body, it is an absolute, infallible specific. Ladies of delicate constitution, subject to those derangements peculiar to the feeble of their sex, will obtain immediate relief from its use.

Persons wishing the Lucina Cordial, by sending a remittance to Dr. MAGNIN, No. 203 Fulton-st., New-York, or to E. FLINT, druggist corner of 9th-av., and 28th st., can have it safely packed and sent to any part of the world. Price $3 per bottle, or two bottles for $5.

RICORD'S, VELPEAU'S, CIVIALE'S, ACTON'S CURLING'S, and the Venereal Hospital Practice, of Paris and London, by Dr. LARMONT. As some persons afflicted with Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Primary and Constitutional Syphilis, Nervous Debility, Seminal Emissions, Impotency, &c., may not be aware of the fact, he takes this medium of informing them that he is the only graduate in this City who is exclusively treating and curing those diseases, and whose connection with the European hospitals enables him to adopt the latest and most radical treatment, curing the oldest and most severe cases, at No. 82 Mercer-st., corner of Spring, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, from 11 A. M. till 8 P. M., except Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, till 5 P. M. only. The Doctor's MEDICAL ADVISER AND MARRIAGE GUIDE, nearly 400 pages, 100 picture illustrations is $1. Sold and mailed also by TOWNSEND No. 222 Broadway, New-York. It gives the advertised medicines. It should be seen by the afflicted, before adopting any treatment, as it fully exposes the charlatans infesting this and other cities.

We commend Dr. LARMONT to the afflicted.—Courrier des Etats Unis, Staats Zeitung, Day Book, Atlas, &c.

$500 REWARD.—DR. JEFFRIES' ANTIDOTE, a Specific Mixture for the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, and similar disorders. It makes a speedy cure, without the least restriction of diet, drink, exposure, or change in application to business. Further, the disease cannot be contracted if a dose of the Antidote is taken when exposed. Repeated experiments and long experience have proved that it will radically cure any case that can be produced. This desirable result is obtained in from two to ten days; and as it neither creates nausea nor offends the palate, and renders unnecessary all deviation in diet or interruption to usual pursuits, sound sleep or healthy digestion, the disease is thus removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure. Its ingredients are entirely vegetable, and no injurious effect, either constitutionally or locally, can be caused by its use.

Price, One Dollar per Bottle.
C. H. RING, General Agent,
No. 192 Broadway, New-York.
M. S. BURR & CO., No. 1 Cornhill, Boston.

DR. WATSON HAS FOR A LONG SERIES of years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated a vast number of cases, without an instance of failure. The remedies are mild, and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Separate consulting rooms.

Dr. WATSON'S WORK, THE CAUSE AND CURE, is the only one which clearly explains the nature and mode of treatment of the venereal disease in its different forms: also Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, and Premature Exhaustion—the result of early indiscretion, excess, or other causes. Anatomical plates of a superior kind, and drawings of every form of disease. Price $1. No. 55 Walker-st., a few doors west of Broadway.

TO DRUGGISTS.—MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS COUNTERFEITED.—Merchants and traders will be on their guard and not be imposed upon by a counterfeit of Morse's Indian Root Pills, signed A. B. Moore. All genuine Indian Root Pills have the name and signature of A. J WHITE & CO., on each box.

Of late this Moore has been putting up these pills in blue wrappers, so as to resemble our original Pills. Druggists will be supplied on favorable terms, with the genuine, by F. C. WELLS & CO., or by A. J. WHITE & CO., Proprietors, No. 50 Leonard-st., New-York.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. HUNTER'S Red Drop cures when regular treatment of other physicians and all other remedies fail. It is your only reliance for a thorough cure in certain diseases. No. 3 Division-st., the only place now so well known for the very many extraordinary cures it has performed, without diet or hindrance from business, when all other remedies only drive the disease into the blood—$1 only. This secures the patient from secondary attacks, and is the only remedy on earth that does it.

SURE CURE.—DR. WARD'S UNFORTUNATE'S FRIEND.—Only reliance for a cure of private diseases. All the afflicted and disappointed elsewhere call on Dr. WARD. Cure warranted. Unfortunate's Friend, price $1. Female diseases successfully treated. His worthy Pills, $1, never fail. Office No. 289 Canal-st., corner Broadway.

RICORD'S PRACTICE.—C. D. HAMMOND, M. D., pupil of RICORD, of Paris, and of Professors CARNOCHAN and MOTT, of this City. Private consultations in English, French, and by letter. Office hours from 9 to 1, and from 5 to 8 evenings. No. 61 Bleecker-st., east of Broadway. N. B. Dr. H. has no connection with any medicine or instrument offered for sale.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-STREET, may be consulted on all diseases of a private nature; 26 years exclusively devoted to the treatment of secret diseases enables him to warrant a cure in all cases undertaken. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured.

DR. RALPH, AUTHOR OF THE PRACTICAL PRIVATE TREATISE—The permanent cure of Stricture. Dr. R. cures more cases of Stricture than any surgeon in America. Office No. 784 Broadway; hours, 8 till 1, and after 6 o'clock.

Board of Councilmen.

The Board of Councilmen met on Monday afternoon, the President in the Chair.

The following petition from Stephen H. Branch was presented by Councilman McCarty:

To the Honorable the Board of Common Council:

Gentlemen—Your petitioner respectfully represents that Mayor Tiemann has signed his claim; that he feels an increase of five pounds since the sweet event; that his heart glows with gratitude to those who voted for his claim, and to the Mayor, Comptroller and Chamberlain for its payment; that from the Chamberlain's he galloped into a clothing-store and shed his artificial skin, and reëclipsed his fragile form with Hamlet's sentimental mantle and immortal trowsers, and a Byronic collar of red, white and blue, and directed an African of Othello's hue, to profoundly inter his dilapidated coat, vest, pants, shirt and socks, in Potter's field, in its farthest north, so that a Greenland tempest could not waft the malaria of his venerable rags towards the metropolis, and breed a fearful pestilence; that he deposited his glittering lucre in three impregnable iron vaults, with granite inclosures; that his bank presidents, cashiers and clerks are sedate and quiet methodists of recent conversion, and violently abhor absquatulators; that he has emerged from dreary lanes and wharves, and walks proudly erect on our glorious Broadway, and beholds the celestial smiles and dimples of the pure and modest ladies, in whose graceful mould and bewitching aspect are concentrated all the beauties of an Italian rainbow, and the seraphs of eternal bliss; that he visits the commodious saloons and partakes of luscious viands, and exhales the entrancing perfume of an exhilarating principe; that amid all this joy and ecstasy of Elysium, he beholds a dark cloud, and is depressed, and warmly sympathizes with unfortunate public creditors, who implore him to raise his voice and wield his metallic rapier for themselves and dear companions and helpless innocents, who are deprived of nourishment and apparel, and subjected to the rapacity of the heartless Shylocks who bribe the Albanian legislators to impede the passage of the tax-levy, to enable them to purchase the public claims at two-thirds their value; that your petitioner cannot resist their mournful supplications, and with painful emotions discloses the following unparalleled rascality:

The disclosure of Mr. Branch is to the effect that Mr. Wise, Chairman of the Committee on Cities and Villages, and who, he says, is sub-editor of the Sunday Atlas, told him that as soon as the Speaker should announce the Chairman of the said Committee, he (Branch) had better repair to Albany immediately and "see" the said Chairman; and that, in addition, he had better "see" Mr. Herrick, the Editor of the Sunday Atlas, as he was a man of great influence in Albany. Mr. Branch also gives two quotations from the Sunday Atlas—the first, stating that every item in the tax levy should be carefully scrutinized by the Chairman of the Committee on Cities and Villages, and that many of them would, in all probability, be considerably cut down; and the second, to the effect that the levy had been increased $16,000, and recommending its immediate passage. Mr. Branch says he did not "see" either Wise or Herrick; and he concludes his communication, with an impassioned appeal on behalf of those who have been suffering so long from the delay in the passage of the tax levy.

After a few words had been read,

Councilman Van Tine moved to suspend the reading; and Councilman Cross moved that it be sent back, observing, "We have had enough of Mr. Branch."

Councilman Genet moved as an amendment that it be put on file, which, upon vote, and without any further observations, was carried.

Major Sprague, United States Army, forwarded a communication, requesting the erasure of the words "Buena Vista" from the monument to Gen. Worth, inasmuch as the General was not in the action.

After some debate the document was referred to the Committee on Arts and Sciences.

A resolution concerning gas-lights for Bellevue Hospital was referred to the Committee on Lamps and Gas. A resolution as to crosswalks in Cherry-street was referred to Committee on Streets.

A resolution, presented by Councilman Brady, recommending the reorganization of the Croton Aqueduct Department, was adopted.

A resolution of inquiry, as to who is authorized to collect the fees at the various markets, was adopted.

A resolution to curb, gutter and flag sidewalks in Eighty-eighth and Ninetieth streets, between Third and Fifth avenues, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, was referred to the Committee on Roads.

The Board concurred with the Board of Aldermen in a resolution as to a contract for sewers in Spring-street, East Sixteenth-street, Desbrosses street, Third-avenue, Fifty second-street, and other places.

The resolution on the Mayor's veto on the grant of land for the proposed Women's Hospital was brought up from the Board of Aldermen, and ordered to be printed on the minutes.

A resolution was adopted on the recommendation of the Committee on Assessments, directing that the Cooper Institute be exempted from water tax, so long as it is devoted exclusively to the objects of art and science.

A report and resolution were adopted in favor of the formation of sewers in Fulton and Dutch streets.

The report of the Committee on Public Buildings in favor of the appointment of an inspector and superintendent for the building of Tompkins Market, was laid over.

The report of the Committee on Lands and Places, in favor of leasing to the Orphan Home a portion of old Potter's Field, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth streets and Lexington-avenue, was laid over.

A resolution to make the New-York Courier and Enquirer a Corporation newspaper was laid over. So also was another resolution in favor of an electric clock in the bell-tower corner of Third-avenue and Eighty-third-street.

Some debate arose, in which Councilmen Brady, Genet and others took part, as to the legality of a claim amounting to $300, for cleaning the Twenty-second Ward two years ago, due to James Campbell. Ultimately, the report and resolution affirming the claim were adopted.

The report of the Committee on the proposed contract for the work on the New Reservoir at Yorkville, adverse to giving the contract to Messrs. Fairchild & Co., was called up. An amendment, striking out the resolution of the Committee, and giving the contract to Messrs. Fairchild & Co., as lowest bidders, was adopted, and so was the report.

The Board then adjourned to next Monday.

COMMITTEE ON FERRIES.

The Committee on Ferries of the Board of Councilmen met on Monday to hear evidence and argument as to the formation of a new ferry to Staten Island.

Mr. Townsend offered to give $3,000 per annum for the Staten Island ferry. He desired a ferry to run to Clifton and to the foot of Swan-street. Mr. Vanderbilt owned the whole shore from Quarantine to New-Brighton. Witness would run his ferry under direction of the Common Council. He thought two boats would be sufficient, and had no interest in Law's ferry. He had no wish to oppose Law's ferry, but still the Clifton people desired better accommodation. The United States public works at the Narrows would be within three-quarters of a mile of the proposed ferry.

After hearing Mr. Townsend's statement, the Committee adjourned at call of the chair.

STEAM ON ELEVENTH-AVENUE.

The Committee of the Board of Councilmen on Railroads met on Monday, to hear evidence and argument as to the use of steam on Eleventh-avenue, below Fifty-ninth-street. Mr. Garrett H. Stryker attended on behalf of the petitioners, and Mr. W. North for the Directors.

Mr. North contended that the land was passed by deed voluntarily to the Company from the previous owners. Mr. O. H. Lee deposed that he had sold land to the Company, from Forty-fourth to Forty-sixth-street, when Forty-third-street was the only street open. He understood that steam was to be used, and not small cars, and was and is of opinion that the use of steam is not objectionable, but beneficial.

As to the question whether the use of steam in that locality was dangerous, Mr. R. T. Smith thought there was more danger in subdividing trains.

Mr. Mason thought the road had been a great advantage to the City. There had been difficulty since 1826 in getting provisions from the West. He had paid $5,000 to get the road through, not because he expected to get anything directly from the road, but because he had lots near Thirtieth-street. In Rochester and in Troy no danger arose from the passage of the trains through those cities. New-York had been a great commercial City in consequence of the railroads. The geographical position of the City favored the formation of the railroads, but they, and not its geographical position, were the direct and immediate causes of its prosperity.

After passing a cross examination from the legal gentlemen, Mr. Mason retired, and the Committee adjourned until Monday next.

THE RECORDER'S OFFICE.

Judge Thompson, of the Marine Court, Prosecutes Mr. Hardenbrook, a Lawyer, for Libel.

Yesterday the case of Judge Thompson, of the Marine Court, against Mr. W. A. Hardenbrook, of the firm of Jordan & Hardenbrook, came before Recorder Barnard, for preliminary examination. The nature of the case may be briefly summed up as follows: A lady named Mary Anne Bellinger had a suit in the Marine Court against a person named Davis. Judge Thompson occupied the Bench. Mrs. Hardenbrook was counsel for Mrs. Bellinger. On the 8th of the present month notice was given that Davis would put in a defence, and the case was, accordingly, adjourned till the 18th inst. In that adjournment the offence charged against Judge Thompson consists, the law allowing a Judge of the Supreme Court to adjourn a case for no longer a period than six days, whereas, a notice to answer has ten days to run. Mr. Hardenbrook drew up a petition to the Board of Supervisors, which he procured to be presented through Supervisor Orison Blunt, praying for the impeachment of Judge Thompson, in consequence of his illegal adjournment. This petition was filed on the public records, and in such petition, which charges the Judge with adjourning the case beyond the number of days allowed by law for the purpose of enabling the notice of defendant's examination to be given, consists the libel aforesaid, Judge Thompson charging that the petition was malicious in its purpose and import. Messrs. Galbraith and Townsend appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Ambrose Jordan for the defence. The affidavit of Judge Thompson, to the above purport, having been offered in lieu of his direct evidence, Mr. Jordan proceeded to cross-examine him:

Albert A. Thompson sworn, deposes: I am one of the Judges of the Marine Court; I know, in connection with the alleged libel, that Mr. Hardenbrook was counsel for Mary Anne Bellinger against a person named Davis; the petition of complainant was sent to the Board of Supervisors; it is signed by Mary Anne Bellinger; my knowledge of the fact is derived from the Clerk of the Board; I saw a copy of the petition in the possession of Messrs. Galbraith and Townsend, my counsel; my affidavit was mainly made on information and belief; I think the Bellinger and Davis case was commenced before me; I do not know now what it was about or who the parties were; I can discover the particulars by reference to the records of the Court.

The further examination of Judge Thompson was postponed, that the papers might be sent for.

Joseph C. Young Examined by Mr. Townshend—I am Clerk to the Board of Supervisors of the County of New-York; the petition which I now produce was drawn from the records of that office; it was brought to me, with the other proceedings of the Board, after one of its meetings; I first saw it on the day that it was presented to the Board; the Supervisors held a meeting on the 16th March, in the chamber of the Board of Aldermen; the petition was presented by Supervisor Blunt; I do not know Mr. Hardenbrook—never saw him before to-day, to my knowledge.

Orison Blunt was sworn and examined by Mr. Townshend—I am one of the Supervisors of the County of New York; I was present at a meeting of the Board on the 16th of this month; I presented the petition referred to; I laid it on the table when the Board was organized; the petition was handed to me in the morning of the same day by Mr. Hardenbrook; he called at my house and wished me to present a petition to the Board of Supervisors; I said I would with pleasure; it was referred to the Committee on Civil Courts; he stated it was the petition of a lady; I did not read it, but I read the title; I saw that it related to the impeachment of Judge Thompson, and I asked him if the Board of Supervisors had power to impeach any Judge; he told me they had; I asked him to refer me to the law on the subject, which he did; nothing else took place; I saw Hardenbrook in the Clerk's Office on the same day, and I have not seen him since till this morning; I gave no directions to have the petition published in any newspaper.

Cross examined by Mr. Ambrose L. Jordan—The Supervisors do not represent Wards; there are twelve Supervisors, and the Wards of the City are divided into twelve lots; I came from the Fifteenth Ward.

William Marshall sworn and examined by Mr. Townshend—I am a member of the Bar; my office is at No. 5 Beekman-street, in the same office with Messrs. Hardenbrook and Jordan; I made an affidavit with regard to the matter stated in that petition; the affidavit annexed to it is the one I mean; it is signed by me; the affidavit itself is in the handwriting of one of the clerks of the office; his name is James Wallace; the petition is in Mr. Hardenbrook's handwriting; I saw it before it was presented to the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Jordan here objected to anything that this witness could testify as to what took place in Jordan & Hardenbrook's office, on the ground that he was one of the clerks at the time. The Recorder overruled the objection; Jordan took an exception.

Witness continued—I know Mrs. Bellinger, the lady named in that petition; I do not know where she resides; I do not think I made a copy of the petition; I have seen two copies of it; I saw them lying on a table in the office; I cannot fix the time when I saw them; I do not know when the petition was presented to the Board of Supervisors; I saw those copies before the 16th of the present month; I have not seen them since; I saw them in process of being made; I think James Wallace made them, I do not know who directed him to make them; I do not know what became of them; Wallace is employed as a clerk in that office; I know that Mr. Hardenbrook had a suit in the Marine Court of Bellinger vs. Davis; I have conversed with him about that suit, and in reference to Judge Thompson's conduct in connection with it; he complained of Judge Thompson's conduct in reference thereto.

Q.—What did he say in connection with Judge Thompson's conduct?

Mr. Jordan objected. They were not there to hear verbal slander.

The Recorder admitted the question.

Mr. Jordan took an exception.

Witness—He complained that Judge Thompson had adjourned the case from the 8th March to the 18th, which was more than the six days allowed by law for an adjournment; there were threats used, as to what he would do to Judge Thompson; he threatened to impeach him for so adjourning it; I do not remember that he said anything else; this occurred very soon after the case was adjourned; I heard no threat made at any subsequent time.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jordan—I know Mrs. Mary Ann Bellinger; she was a client of Mr. Hardenbrook's; he was employed to prosecute her suit against Davis before the Marine Court; I do not know whether he was employed to draw up the petition of impeachment; I understood Mr. Hardenbrook to say he would impeach Judge Thompson for his conduct in this suit; he did not say whether on his own account or on that of Mrs. Bellinger; I cannot say whether Mrs. Bellinger was present when he was drawing up and preparing the papers; I saw her in the office after the cause was adjourned; she usually conversed with Mr. Hardenbrook; I do not know what she said; I have no recollection of his swearing to the petition; I never knew of his drawing up a petition of impeachment on his own account other than this of Mrs. Bellinger; I know that the cause was adjourned once at least before the notice was received of the intention to examine the defendant; Mrs. Bellinger was present when Mr. Hardenbrook said he would impeach Judge Thompson; I recollect that it arose from a question of Mrs. Bellinger as to what could be done with a Judge who adjourned a case unlawfully; Mrs. Bellinger charged that the adjournment was made for ten days, by connivance, to enable the notice of defendant's examination to be given.

The examination was at this point adjourned to Friday, at 11 o'clock A. M.

CAUTION TO HOTEL-KEEPERS.

I understand that several persons are traveling about the City and country, representing themselves as agents for Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps, and selling the same by the gallon and pipe.

I beg leave to caution hotel-keepers and the public against these impostors.

The genuine Schnapps is only sold in quart and pint bottles, with the proprietor's name on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label.

I would advise all persons who have been swindled by these impostors to refuse payment, on the ground of fraud, as the debt cannot be collected by law.

A Splendid Beginning.—Knox is busy. His Spring Hat is just the fabric likely to create a sensation among our sensation-loving public, and its beauty is the theme of every tongue. "How is trade?" inquired an inquisitive customer of one of his salesmen. "Trade!" exclaimed the over-worked clerk, "I have scarcely been able to breathe for a week." "The good time" has come was the rejoinder. Those who do not wish to increase the anxieties of that clerk should not go to Knox's, No. 212 Broadway, without they have a very shabby hat, and in that case they must go, whether or no.

Monday, March 22—P. M.

The Official Averages of the Banks in the City of New-York for the past week, ending Saturday, March 20, the particulars of which are advertised by each Bank separately on another page of this paper, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous weekly statement of Saturday, March 13:

Increase of Loans and Discounts............$2,146,719
Decrease in Specie............1,058,420
Increase in Circulation............97,894
Increase in Undrawn Deposits............620,991

Including the Clearing-House operations of the week, and the Sub-Treasury statement of Saturday afternoon, the following is the general comparison with the previous statement, and also with the corresponding week at this time last year:

COMPARATIVE RECAPITULATION.

	March 21, 1857.	March 20, 1858.	March 13, 1858.
Capital	$59,263,000	$66,600,000	$66,600,000
Loans	113,448,691	107,440,350	105,293,631
Specie	11,291,373	31,902,656	32,961,076
Circulation	8,494,238	6,853,852	6,755,958
Gross Deposits	96,406,450	91,238,505	90,063,432
Exchanged	30,430,501	17,064,588	16,511,506
Undrawn	65,975,949	74,173,917	73,552,926
In Sub-Treasury	15,577,488	5,883,336	2,964,197

The increase in Loans and Discounts is made considerable this week by the exchange of part of the Specie of the Banks for the Treasury Bills of the Government, bearing 5 ₽ cent. interest, which go at once into their loan columns. The exchanges in this way for New-York account is about $1,500,000, and through New-York for Philadelphia account, and for the Savings Banks, about as much more. The Sub-Treasury in this way, it will be noticed, gains $2,919,139 in Specie from this, while the Banks lose on their average only $1,058,420. The present stock of Bullion in the City, therefore, is not only larger by nearly two millions than last week, but the largest in total ever before reported—say $37,844,892. The local mercantile demand for Discounts has not materially improved. Some of the leading Banks, however, find employment in this line by discounting the short collections of their Western and Southern correspondents. In regard to the Undrawn Deposits, it may be added that, notwithstanding some considerable Philadelphia balances were paid off during the week, the present total is the largest ever before reported, being $74,173,197.

The sales of Foreign Exchange for the Boston steamer opened this morning with some steadiness, and a fair trade demand for bank and bankers' names, of very established signatures, was met at 107@107¼ ₽ cent., while fair bills were done at 106½@106¾, and commercial exchange, with shipping documents, at 106@105½ ₽ cent. In the course of the day, telegraphic advices of lower and declining rates at New-Orleans, and purchases for New-York account, were received by some of the banking-houses, say at 104½@105 ₽ cent. At the close of 'Change hour, the regular drawers were, therefore, disposed to meet the market freely at the morning prices. We call very prime bills 107@107⅛ ₽ cent. The Money Market is without perceptible change to-day. At call the supply is easy, and Discounts are had at last week's moderate rates.

On the Stock Exchange to-day a further decline, averaging on the Share list about two per cent., was made, and the general market left off unsettled. With the exception of two or three Stocks, the Bear rule is now almost as absolute and general as the Bulls were omnipotent two or three weeks ago. The force against the market inside the Board of Brokers is large and influential, while the Street Jobbers, known as the outside Board, are now almost as generally short at the decline as they were universally long at the advance about the beginning of the month. The element opposing this combined influence, though embracing a number of the most successful of the members of the Stock Exchange proper, is not particularly felt upon the non-dividend shares, thus far, and only partially so on New-York Central, which participated in the fall to-day, closing 89 cash, 89¼ buyer 60 days. The short sellers apparently evince more confidence in the dealings to-day, by the heavy lines of Erie and other stocks which they freely offer, than last week, though the movement being avowedly without reference to the condition or probable changes of the Money market, this very boldness but confirms the prevailing impression that the leading operators are planning for an early turn upward, on the basis of comparatively low prices.

The following is the Official Statement of the Earnings of the New-York Central Railroad for the month of February, 1858, compared with its Earnings for the corresponding month of the previous year:

Years.	Earnings.
1858, February	$408,225 41
1857, February	458,139 83
Decrease this season	$49,914 42

The Official Notice in regard to the Wisconsin State Debt has been forwarded to us by the Treasurer:

State of Wisconsin, Office of State Treasurer,
Madison, Tuesday, March 16, 1858.

All demands against the State of Wisconsin on State Bonds, maturing on the 1st day of April next, whether for principal or interest, will be paid on presentation at the Bank of North America, in the City of New-York, or at this office in New-York. Exchange at the option of the holders of the Bonds.

SAMUEL D. HASTINGS, State Treasurer.

The following is the conclusion of Justice McLean's important and conclusive opinion in the case of the indorsement of the Cleveland and Columbus Company, referred to yesterday:

"The indorsement complained of was by the defendant jointly and severally, with the Bellefontaine and Indiana Company, and the Indiana and Bellefontaine Railroad Company, for $400,000 of the third mortgage bonds of the Columbus, Piqua and Indiana Railroad Company, bearing date April 1, 1854.

It is admitted that the bonds, and the coupons attached to them, for the payment of interest, are negotiable paper. They are made payable to bearer, and pass on delivery; and we are now to consider the purchasers of these bonds as bona fide purchasers, in the market, unaffected by notice of facts which should have put them upon inquiry.

Upon their face the bonds purport to have been issued by the proper authority; and the guarantee of the Cleveland Road is indorsed in due form under the authority of the Company, and signed by its President.

The whole transaction was entered into in good faith, and with the view of increasing the operations of the two roads, and the others connected with them. This arrangement, and the establishment of an equal gauge, constituted the inducement or consideration, for the guarantee of the four hundred bonds, by the Cleveland Road.

Some ten or twelve arrangements, similar in spirit to the above, had been entered into by the Cleveland road, with other roads and companies, and were proved to establish a usage of the company; which contracts had been published in their annual reports and distributed to the stockholders without objection on their part.

This undoubtedly, to some extent, showed an acquiescence on the part of the stockholders, in the policy pursued; but it cannot be received as evidence of the enlargement of the corporate powers of the company. No want of good faith is charged against the Cleveland Company, in the course taken, but a misconstruction of its powers.

One semi-weekly payment of interest on the bonds was made by the Cleveland Company, jointly with the Bellefontaine and Indiana Railroad Company, and the Indianapolis and Bellefontaine Company, who were coindorsers with the Cleveland Company.

It has been admitted that the contract of guarantee between the Cleveland and Piqua Companies might have been set aside, for the defects stated in the proceedings, of which the parties to the contract had notice, had a bill been filed by the Cleveland stockholders; but it does not follow that the same relief can be given as against the bona fide bondholders.

* * * Negotiable paper, which passes by indorsement or delivery, is an important instrument in commerce. Where it bears upon its face evidence of genuineness, and there is nothing to excite suspicion, the person who takes it bona fide, in the course of business, can enforce the payment of it, though it be not valid, as between the original parties. If on such paper the equities are open as between the persons who created it, its negotiability would be destroyed. And this principle applies equally to corporations as to individuals.

Within a few years past several hundred millions of dollars in bonds, payable to bearer, have been issued in this country, and sold here and in foreign countries, to bona fide purchasers. If against the holders of these bonds technical objections can be raised, as to the mode of their being issued, when upon their face there was nothing to excite suspicion, but everything to secure confidence, it would destroy all reliance in such paper. * * *

Is the doctrine maintainable, that all who deal with a corporation must look into its charter, not only to be assured that corporate powers have been conferred upon it, but to see that everything in the exercise of a given power has been done in exact accordance with the mode provided, especially when its acts are set forth in general terms, showing a compliance with the law?

Is every purchaser of a railroad bond, issued to carry out the purposes of the act of incorporation, bound to scrutinize the meetings of the Board, to see that the necessary number of the Directors was present, to issue the bond? If this be necessary, must not the purchaser be also assured that the directors were duly elected by the stockholders, on proper notice?

A corporation must act within its delegated powers, but its own records and official acts, within the scope of its powers, is evidence against it, and will bind it. Any rule of construction which goes beyond this, is impracticable.

There is another consideration which cannot be omitted in this case. On 1st July, 1854, the agent of the complainant had notice of the ratification of the stockholders of the indorsement of the bonds by the Company, but the bill was not filed until the 13th of September, 1856, a lapse of more than two years. During this period the bonds were thrown into the market, and purchased by bona fide holders. While the bonds remained in the possession or under the control of the Piqua Company, when no new equity had arisen, except that which grew out of the contract between the original parties, a Court of Equity might have interposed, in regard to the powers exercised. But after the bonds have been put into the market and passed into the hands of bona fide purchasers, a new right is acquired, which a Court of Equity cannot reach, unless the purchaser had such notice as to put him upon inquiry. On the ground of a want of diligence, an injunction may be denied.

In New-Orleans, March 13, the Exchange Market, depressed by a heavy supply, closed lower. The Picayune says: "With some few exceptions, buyers almost dictated prices. Though there was no decline in the counter rate for checks on New-York, which was steady at ¼ discount, outside there was considerable fluctuation. Sight drafts freely offered at ⅛@⅜ and ⅜ discount. Five days' sight, ⅜@½ discount. Ten days' sight, 1 ₽ cent. discount. Thirty days' sight, 1½@2 ₽ cent., and sixty days' sight, 2¼@2½, 2¾ and 3 ₽ cent. discount. Though there were some transactions at 2 ₽ cent., the figure is almost too high for a quotation. Sterling dull and drooping. Clear bills were sold at 106, and for remittance 107@107½ was asked. Bills of lading 104@105 and 105½, and dull. In fact, the market for Sterling is completely paralyzed. Francs also had a heavy feeling, and we have to reduce our figures. We quote rates ranging from 5.32½@5.22½. For remittance, a slight advance is obtained."

Money Circulars for Europe.

New-York, Monday, March 22, 1858.

Our last advices were to the 16th inst. The heavy decline then noticed has progressed since, almost without any interruption, and has particularly been rapid to-day, showing, with one or two exceptions, much lower prices. The same causes which operated last week (the overburdened speculators comparatively, and the absence of a short interest offering a market to those who are forced to realize) have exercised the same influence upon the Stock Exchange, although the abundance of money is in no way diminished, and a further decline in the rates of European Exchanges tends towards securing the continuance of great ease in the money market. The transactions in the aggregate have been smaller than the preceding week. State Stocks—There was a moderate activity in Missouri 6s at a decline of 1⅛, in North Carolina 6s of 1, in Tennessee 6s of 1, and in Virginia 6s of ⅛. Some United States 6s, 1862, changed hands at 103¼@103⅜. City and County Bonds—Except some few St. Louis City 6s and County 7s without material change of prices, there was but little done. Some Louisville 6s were sold at a decline. Railroad Bonds—The transactions were not active, except in La Crosse and Milwaukee Land Grants, at a decline of 1⅛; Erie 7s, 1875, have recovered 7 ₽ cent. of the decline last week. They close at 60. Some Illinois Central were done at steady rates, and some New-York Central 7s and 6s at a decline of ¼@⅜. Railroad Shares—With reduced transactions, the decline in Shares was general and heavy, being on Erie 6, on Chicago and Rock Island 9, on New-York Central 3½, on Reading 7¼, on Michigan Central 6½, on Michigan Southern 5⅛, on Cleveland and Toledo 5¼, on Hudson 6, and on Milwaukee and Mississippi 4 ₽ cent. Money without change; abundant at 5@7 for demand loans. Paper 6@9. In consequence of the decision of the United States Court, confirming the validity of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Company's indorsement, upon $400,000 of bonds of the Columbus, Piqua and Indiana Road, the stock of the former has fallen to 90.

DE COPPET & CO.

New-York, Monday, March 22, 1858.

Since our advices of the 16th inst., the Stock Market has been quite depressed, and the downward movement, which had already set in the week before, has made great progress. This state of things is due, in the first place, to the somewhat repressive influence of the recent advices from Europe, and in the next place to the natural reaction from the too rapid rise of the last two months, added to the settlement of a large amount of purchases on time maturing in the course of the past and the present week. Our last advices from Europe are to the 6th inst., per Arabia, received on the 20th inst. The Money Market presents no change, notwithstanding the temporary absorption of $5,000,000 in gold by the Treasury Notes issued 15th inst. The disbursement to be made by Government being very large, this gold must shortly be restored to the Banks. The United States Court at Cincinnati has just decided that the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad Company is legally bound by the guarantee of the $400,000 Columbus, Pequa and Indiana Railroad Bonds, as mentioned in our Circular of 7th April, 1856. State Stocks lower, especially Missouris; sales moderate. Virginias, ¼ ₽ cent. lower; Missouris, 1⅛; Tennessee, 1; California, ⅛; Ohio 6s, 1860, 100¾@102@100½; Kentucky at 103⅛; Michigan at 99; North Carolina, 1 ₽ cent. lower; United States 6s, 1868, at 115¼; and Iowa 7s, 1868, at 103¼. City and County Bonds—No change worth mentioning; sales trifling. Railroad Bonds lower; moderate sales; Erie 1875 Bonds, sales at 56@60; Erie 1871s, 52@54; New-York Central 6s steady, at 90¾@90¼, and ditto 7s, 1864, at 102¼; Illinois Central Construction, ¼ ₽ cent. lower; Freeland Bonds, 2 ₽ cent. down; Michigan Central First Mortgage, ⅛; sales of Chicago, Burlington and Quincey Bonds at 92@91¼; and Hannibal and St. Joseph Bonds at 60. Railroad Shares—A heavy and general decline, but only moderately active. Erie has declined 6 ₽ cent.; Reading, 7¼; New-York Central, 3½; Panama, 1¾; Michigan Central, 6¾; Michigan Southern, 5¼; ditto Preferred, 7⅛; Illinois Central, 4; Cleveland and Toledo, 5; Chicago and Rock Island, 9; Galena and Chicago, 2; Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, 6⅛; Milwaukee and Mississippi, 3¼; La Crosse and Milwaukee, 2⅜; Hudson River, 6¼. Money—No change in rates. Exchanges much depressed; moderate sales; chief sales on London, 107@107¼; Paris, 5.20@5.17½.

Memoranda.

The ship Logan is now on the large Balance Dock for repairs. She will be stripped, recaulked and newly-coppered. The steamship Ocean Bird (Span.) is also on the large Sectional Dock for repairs.

The Br. bark arrived yesterday from Sagua, and reported as the Sardinia, should have read Sabrina.

The steamer Osprey, ashore on Plum Island, lies high on the rock, with the tide ebbing and flowing in her. The cargo will no doubt be entirely saved, partly in a damaged condition. The vessel will be got off, if the weather proves favorable.

The brig reported ashore on Barnegat proves to be the Ann M. Weeks, from Porto Rico, with a cargo of sugar and molasses, bound to New-York. She went ashore the night of March 17, at 11 o'clock. The captain cut away the deck-load the night she went ashore. Lighters are alongside, taking out cargo; anchors and cables have been laid out, and it is expected the vessel can be saved, if the weather proves favorable.

The following is a list of American vessels in St. George's (Bermuda) from Jan. 1 to March 12: Ship Cabinet, Mullan, from Marseilles, for New-York—abandoned on survey, and sold. Ship Horatio, Hathaway, from Shields for New-York—mainmast and foremast badly sprung; would get new spars and sail March 11.
